Fund Workers Are Hopeful Of Chest Victory

Will Meet Tonight At First Christian Church For Fourth Report

NEED $27,077 TO REACH DRIVE GOAL

Campaign Progress Up To Present Time Has Been Most Impressive

The goal: $60,370.
Amount raised $33,273.
Still needed: $27,097.
Fourth report tonight.

Hopeful that their industrious solicitation efforts of Monday afternoon and today may yield a bulk of the $27,097 they need to put over their 1936 campaign, Community Chest drive teams this afternoon looked forward anxiously to the fourth of a series of report meetings—a dinner tonight at the First Christian church at 6:15 o'clock.

The campaign army is more than hopeful and anxious—it is confident that the greater part of the sum remaining will be written up on the "score board" after all the pledges are in! It is hopeful of victory and believes, if today's prospect visitation is as productive as past days have been, that victory may come tonight.

Leaders Hope For Victory

Campaign leaders saw every reason to hope for success but would not predict that the goal of $60,370 will be reached tonight. Nevertheless, they are hoping it will be.

General Chairman David S. Pyle right along has said the campaign will be a success—and in every particular, so far, it certainly has been. Even though the $60,370 may not be produced by tonight,

PA NEWC OBSERVES

Local streets began to get icy about 8 o'clock this morning and motorists who came down over the hills a little too fast got into hot water. Pa Newc noted one auto driver on the Croton Hill skidding around on the hillside, trying to get his car checked. The same condition was reported on other hills.

Numerous auto drivers had chains attached to the wheels of their cars this morning as a traffic safety step. Some of the roads and highways were icy and skidding was not difficult.

Fascist Nations Balk At Arms Control Plans

By KINGSBURY SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Nov. 24—Throwing repeated impediments in the way of international control of arms shipments to Spain, fascist nations today showed themselves determined to block formation of a control commission as long as possible.

Dilatory tactics of Germany, Italy and Portugal, charged by Russia with supplying arms and men to the Spanish rebels, were bared at the latest meeting of the 27 power non-intervention committee here.

When a scheme for aerial surveillance of Spanish imports was suggested, Portugal's representatives branded it "impractical," and insisted on referring the project back to Lisbon.

Soviet Ambassador Ivan Maisky then proposed a land and sea control scheme, to be put into effect immediately without waiting for aerial control.

Move Torpedoed

Italy, Germany, and Portugal torpedoed this move also, making any arms control, impossible before the next meeting of the non-intervention group, next Friday.

Britain, meanwhile, stiffened her attitude against the blockade pro-

Suspension Of Lewis Unions To Continue

By EDWARD B. LOCKETT
International News Service Staff Correspondent

TAMPA, Fla., Nov. 24.—The American Federation of Labor today roared a warlike challenge, and waved an olive branch to the ten rebel suspended unions of John L. Lewis' committee for industrial organization.

An overwhelming majority of the Federation in annual convention voted to indefinitely continue suspension of the Lewis unions, but the road was yet left open to peace, and President William Green of the A. F. of L. in a voice hoarse with feeling and fatigue, called on the industrial union rebels to go down that road, hand in hand with the old guard, craft union forces, to a new unity of organized labor in America.

May Find Way To Peace

No matter that the Lewis committee for industrial organization had flaunted peace offers in the past, said Green, no matter that its officers, from John Lewis of the United Mine Workers down, have spurned offers to meet with the A. F. of L. around the conference table.

If Lewis, his United Mine Workers and the nine other unions which were suspended from A. F. of L. membership along with it, will now meet with Green, or other Federation officials, there may be found still a means of closing the breach which has split union labor ranks wide open for the first time in half a century.

So said the tired Federation president after the delegates voted 21,679 to 2,043 to continue suspension of the rebels in response to recommendations of the convention's resolution committee.

Continue Suspension

These recommendations, approved with but one modification in the text of the resolution committee's report, provided:

1. Continued indefinite suspension of the rebellious CIO unions.
2. Continued existence of a spec-

Death Of Boy Is Mysterious

Probe Death Of 11-Year-Old Lad In Connellsville Mountain Area

FIRST BELIEVED VICTIM OF AUTO

(International News Service)

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., Nov. 24.—Another strange mystery of the mountains developed today from the death of James Austin Harbaugh, 11, who had at first been reported a possible hit-run automobile victim.

Coroner S. A. Baltz reported today James' neck was broken by a blow from behind and not by an automobile. And as the coroner made known his decision, state police from Uniontown searched through the wilds of the "Alps of America"—Chestnut Ridge—where the body was found.

Baltz said the lad had been dragged through a cornfield and left in a secluded lane leading to the home of his uncle, Harry Tissue, with whom he lived. His shoes were found hidden in a path hundreds of yards away. His stockings were discovered a half mile distant.

His handkerchief had been caught in a barbed wire fence near the shoes, about 150 yards from Route 381, where no accident could have possibly tossed them, according to Baltz.

Three More Join In Agreement Upon Currency

Memberships were extended to Switzerland, Belgium and the Netherlands upon their promise to promote harmony in international economic relations.

Inclusion of the three additional countries in the agreement was characterized by Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau as a "further step in the direction of world monetary equilibrium and the placing of the principal currencies on a solid basis."

War Debts May Get Attention

Some Informal Sounding On Issue Reported From Abroad

LONG IMPASSE ON DEBTS MAY BREAK

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—Foreign debtors who owe the United States some $12,000,000,000—an amount approximately one-third of the entire national debt—have begun informal soundings here to determine what, if anything, can be done to break the long impasse on the war debts.

The initiative is coming from the debtors themselves, and is receiving active encouragement by officials of this government.

The debtors have been informed, in effect: "make us a proposition."

This is in line with the policy adopted by President Roosevelt at the outset of his administration of letting the debtors stew in their own juice, and taking no steps to press the issue of payment other than to remind them each six months that their debts still remain on the treasury books, undiminished and uncancelled.

Formal Notice To Go Out

Another routine, formal notice is to go out within the next three weeks. This time it would not surprise official Washington if several of the debtors, notably France and Italy, take cognizance of the re-

CHICAGO, Nov. 24.—The renewal of a labor feud of long standing was blamed by police today for the assassination of Michael J. Galvin, 55, blasted to death by a shotgun barrage as he sauntered along crowded West Madison street shortly before midnight last night.

"Mike Galvin's been overdue 10 or 12 years. He's been living on borrowed time," Police Capt. John Stege declared today as he directed investigation of the slaying.

President At The Equator

Proper Ceremonies Are Engaged In As Line Is Crossed

CEREMONY IS MOST AMUSING

By GEORGE DURNO
International News Service Staff Correspondent

ABOARD U. S. S. CHESTER, AT SEA, Nov. 24.—President Roosevelt entered the realm of Neptunus Rex today, where he must stand trial as "senior pollywog" before the royal court on the after-deck of the cruiser Indianapolis just after she crosses the Equator.

A rigorous preliminary initiation for the president and his party preceded their first crossing of the line.

James Roosevelt; his secretary, Eddie Gallagher, and the White House pharmacist, George Fox, were manacled and thrown into the brig on a bread and water diet overnight by wrathy "shell-backs"", veterans of the equatorial crossing.

The president then set the pollywog watch for Davy Jones, Mr. Roosevelt himself taking the first watch, followed by James Roosevelt, Col. Edwin Watson, secret service men, Gus Gennerich and others.

They were all clad in fur flying suits and helmets, and shod with

Expects To Fight Three Duels Tonight

(International News Service)

BUDAPEST, Nov. 24.—Such prosaic considerations as la grippe and army red tape today threw fresh obstacles in the way of Dr. Franz Sargas' nine duels, but the irrepressible bridegroom, fondly feeling the edge of his eight-pound cavalry sabre, announced that not only will he get the nine blots off the Sargas escutcheon, but is looking forward to accepting some more challenges.

"I still hope to fight three duels tonight," the pudgy doctor said, "and settle the rest later. I may spend all week duelling."

Affair Of Honor

Meanwhile Sargas got in a little extra sword and pistol practice, explaining.

"Duels cannot be fought at American speed. They must be arranged through individual negotiations between gentlemen.

"Only this morning one of my opponents, whose name I cannot reveal, notified me that his second is abed with the grippe.

Must Get Permission

"Some of my other opponents are army reserve officers," he continued, "who must receive permission from their military commanders to engage in duels."

Cutting and lunging with his heavy sabre, Sargas cooly invited the prospect of more challenges growing out of charges that he eloped with his pretty and rich wife six months ago because of her money.

"Nine challengers are all I have accepted so far," said the 28-year-

Police Arrest Youth For Local Robberies

Louis Deluria, 22, rear 140 East Long avenue, is held today on a charge of suspicion, pending additional charges later police say, because he lost a button off his overcoat while at the Shaffer & Snyder drugstore, Monday morning.

While leaving the place his coat stuck on a screen door and a button came off. Detectives found the button, checked clothing stores and secured sufficient information to warrant Deluria's arrest at 5:20 p. m. yesterday.

According to Police Chief Ralph Criswell, Deluria confessed to robbing not only the drug store, but also Davis Tydol gas station, Mill St. Joe Lief saloon and the Sam Lewis confectionery store, both Long avenue business places.

Deluria, police say, took a battery from the gas station, compacts, cigarettes and a small amount of cash from the drug store; tobacco, cigarettes, gloves and candy from the Lewis store, and cigarettes, liquor, cigars, peanut machine and a small amount of cash from the Lief saloon.

The Lewis confectionery was robbed July 22, Lief saloon, November 15 and the drugstore and gas station early November 23, according to Chief Criswell, who stated some of the stolen articles have been recovered and added that Deludia will be charged with breaking, entering and larceny.

Naval Situation Holding Threat In Spanish War

Report Soviet And German Warships Are Rushing To Mediterranean

AIM TO PROTECT MERCHANT VESSELS

Loyalist Government Makes Further Charges Of National Interference

(International News Service)

Tempo of the Spanish war crisis quickened suddenly today as the naval situation of Spain's east coast assumed an international character filled with dangerous threats to the peace of Europe.

Thirty-five Soviet and three German warships were reported rushing to Spain's Mediterranean coast to protect their national merchant shipping there, threatened by constant maneuvering of naval vessels of several powers and by Loyalist and Rebel Spanish warships.

Charges Interference

The Loyalist Spanish government at Valencia published additional grave charges of German and Italian interference with its warships. In official communiques the government stated several Spanish food ships had been sunk, and then pointed out it was unlikely all of them could have gone down under Rebel fire. The government charged Italy and Germany with violating neutrality "constantly."

General Francisco Franco's Rebel government and the government of Great Britain exchanged sharp messages over the question of protection of British shipping in Spanish Mediterranean waters. Gen. Franco, after a delay which had annoyed London, bluntly refused a British

Plan To Open New Viaduct In Few Days

Edenburg Span Will Probably Be In Use Next Week

According to Dan Millet, superintendent of construction, at the new Edenburg viaduct, the structure will be opened for traffic on December 1, just one week away. The last of the concrete is being poured this week and as only a small portion of the truss span over the Mahoning river, remains to be completed the project will open on this date, it is indicated.

All work is now being concentrated on this truss span as all of the other work has already been completed. All steel work on the span is now riveted in place and is now ready for the painters to apply the finishing touches. Tools and equipment of the Holmes Construction company are now being loaded into cars and taken to Butler, where the company is now employed on another grade crossing elimination. R. M. Jamison, who was assistant superintendent on the local project, has been transferred to Butler.

RELIEF SET-UP CHANGE SEEN

Appointment Of De Schweinitz As Security Head Brings Comment

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Nov. 24.—Appointment of Karl DeSchweinitz, state relief director, as deputy secretary of welfare in charge of social security activities, led Capitol Hill observers today to point toward ultimate dissolution of the present relief administration setup.

Administration leaders refrained from comment on the latest change of Gov. George H. Earle and Robert L. Myers, Jr., secretary to the chief executive only had this to say:

"The position has sought the man and he has been drafted regardless of the implication to the future of the relief setup. The governor will not formulate his recommendations to the legislature on the future of the relief setup until he receives the report of the Goodrich committee next month."

Contents of the report have not been made public, but growing approval has been expressed towards administration of all types of relief and social security through consolidated local boards.

BUTCHER SHOP OWNER SEIZES YOUNG BANDIT

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 24.—Chester Venetski, 23-year-old suspected robber, was held by Ambridge authorities today following his capture outside a butcher shop when the proprietor failed to be awed by a sawed-off shotgun.

According to Joseph Chaied, 40, the butcher, Venetski entered his store, pulled the gun from beneath his sweater, and ordered him to hand over "what money you've got on you." Chaied said he gave the bandit $33 from his pocket but when ordered to turn over the contents of his cash register, seized the muzzle of the gun and wrested it from the intruder's grip.

Chaied then, he told police, hit the man over the head with the gun as he fled directly into the arms of two men just entering the store.

MADRID AFIRE IN MANY PLACES

CAMPAMENTO, SUBURBAN MADRID, Nov. 24.—Under bleak, leaden skies, in rain and chilly wind, the battle for Madrid went forward today with its intensity only dampened by the absence of aviation, and countless fires throughout the city gave evidence that the Reds' relentless defense affords no possibility of sparing any building there where their centers of fire are placed.

Thus, today it became apparent that the Reds had stationed important batteries around the Royal Palace and machine gun posts within it, and consequently Gen. Francisco Franco's fire was directed to destroy them regardless of damage to the palace.

I witnessed shells entering the palace's left wing and smoke rising therefrom.

In the same way, along the whole panorama of Spain's capital rising before us in perfect perspective there appeared one fire after another as the white batteries sought out and struck at the red artillery stationed at strategically-chosen locations without regard to the destruction which might be wrought by counter-fire.

An enormous fire is raging within and back of the Montana barracks. Another, equally large, is smoking behind the royal palace, and a third, of similar dimensions, can be seen in the vicinty of the Puerta Del Sol.

Meanwhile the Moors and Foreign Legionnaries, battling with hand grenades from house to house along the Rosales and Princesa boulevards, are gradually working their way towards the Puerta Del Sol.

claimed by rebel Gen. Franciso Franco, refusing to recognize the rights of the insurgents as belligerents, Britain ordered the British navy to fire on any Spanish armed vessel, loyelist or rebel which attempts to seize a British merchantman outside the three-mile limit.

Any such acts would be considered "piracy" foreign secretary Anthony Eden warned diplomats.

Aware, however, that 12 British ships are now engaged in gun-running, the government decided to rush a bill through parliament providing for heavy fines on any ships carrying arms or ammunition or any war materials except coal and oil.

Eden expressed the hope that similar action, modelled on America's neutrality legislation would be taken by France.

Reuters Rome correspondent stated on reliable authority today that Italy will give Gen. Franco "moral support" in any blockade of Spanish ports, but will not give any naval support.

the workers, it is reported, will continued for a few days to seek the amount wanted to top the goal.

Out of campaign headquarters in the Lawrence Savings & trust building came a bulletin today which told workers:

The (victory) looks like a stiff task, and it is. But it is possible."

No Let-Down So Far

There has been no let-down so far, the bulletin reminded the teams, and the work throughout has been consistently good. Almost $12,000 was reported at the first report rally, over $11,000 was reported at the second and more than $10,000 was added Monday at the third report luncheon. Those figures are substantial sums and give abundant reason to hope that in the last-hour convassing more than one might imagine can be raised for tonight's report. The needed $27,097 presents a challenge but it may be that the teams will fully meet it.

Want 7,500 Subscriptions

"The number of unreported cards," it was reported at campaign headquarters by Harry Thayer, the drive director, "is several times the number that have been turned in. All cards should be reported tonight." He said 7,500 subscriptions are wanted.

Early this morning members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce's "flying squadron" set out to do everything they could to produce a large share of the sum hoped for tonight. They were making return visits to prospects in some cases, hoping that helpful boosts would be made in earlier pledges.

May Extend Campaign

General Chairman Pyle and A. L. Bintz, Jr., campaign assistant chairman, indicated today the drive will be continued if the goal of $60,370 is not obtained tonight. They made no definite statement, however, preferring to wait until final figures are written on the campaign board tonight.

At a gala "Town party" celebration in the Cathedral one week ago tonight the 1936 drive was formally inaugurated.

SUSPENSION OF LEWIS UNIONS TO CONTINUE

ial committee appointed some time ago to seek a means of settling differences between the Lewis unions and the A. F. of L.

3. Power for the executive council to first make peace overtures and, these failing, call the A. F. of L. into special convention at any time it sees fit, for the purpose of taking further action against the rebellious faction.

The CIO unions were suspended on Sept. 5 by the executive council, after they started a drive to organize steel and allied industries along mass or industrial lines, and refused to heed censure or command from Federation officials.

The Federation vote came after nine long hours on debate. When the roll call was recorded half an hour after midnight, Green told reporters:

"We will renew our offers to negotiate. The CIO unions will be advised of the A. F. of L. decision.

"I will meet with Lewis if he desires it. If we can be permitted to sit at a conference table, I feel sure that a solution to this problem can be found."

PRESIDENT AT THE EQUATOR

leaden-soled divers' shoes. Standing in the breeze created by the ship's 25-knot speed atop a gun turret, they kept the look-out for Davy Jones through fire-hose nozzles held in boxing-gloved hands.

Later the president was ordered to fish, his line descending to the forecastle deck, and his catch consisting of "various varieties of political fish, unwise to name".

Davy Jones was finally sighted, escorted by Pegleg, the royal undertaker, and royal police, and the newspaper men from the Chester.

While rockets flashed from both shipes, Jones was given ambassadorial honors by the captains, and he distributed subpoenas to the pollywogs amid hilarious horseplay.

The Equator is due to be crossed at about 8:30 a. m., Neptune boarding the Indianapolis at 12:30 p. m., accompanied by Aphrodite, the royal lady-in-waiting, the sky-pilot, doctors, dentist, undertaker, judges, prosecutor, defense counsel and police.

Carpenters have built royal thrones and a royal bathing tank on the well deck while tipping chairs have been rigged up to dump unsuspecting novitiates into tubs.

MARGIOTTI CAN BE PROSECUTOR

announced that no opinion had been written as yet, but that one would be handed down at a later date.

Representing 10 of the 12 defendants, who include police officials and James A. Reilly, district attorney of Fayette county, John C. Duggan, an attorney, challenged Margiotti's right to appoint himself to supercede the regularly elected prosecutor of Fayette county.

Report Soviet Warships Enter Mediterranean

(International News Service)

ROME, Nov. 24.—Thirty-five Soviet warships are steaming into the Mediterranean to protect the Russian merchant fleet, Rome newspapers declared in an uncredited dispatch from Hendaye today.

Another message from Brest stated three German warships are headed for the Mediterranean for a similar purpose.

WAR DEBTS MAY GET ATTENTION

minder by beginning conversations aimed at reaching some sort of a settlement.

Word has reached Washington that the debtors themselves, France, Italy and Great Britain, have been informally feeling each other out to ascertain if some sort of agreement cannot be reached to present a united front. Their last united front was built on the Locarno agreement, under which they agree to let Germany off with ten per cent reparations payments provided the United States would grant a similar reduction in their own debts. This was the proposition put to Mr. Roosevelt by Ramsay MacDonald on his famous visit to Washington in the early days of the new deal. Realizing the temper of congress on the subject, Mr. Roosevelt promptly rejected the proposition.

THEY HAVE TO TELL HOW OLD THEY ARE

THAT harassed look noted on so many feminine countenances is not due necessarily to the strain of deciding between ermine and mink, "Gone With the Wind" and "Anthony Adverse," Clarke Gable and Robert Taylor, or a chocolate sundae and non-fattening wafers. For all fair jobholders who sign applications for the new old-age pensions have to list their exact ages. No longer will "over 21" get them by: to friends they may remain 29 indefinitely, but if they are 30 or 47 Uncle Sam must know it, else how can he tell when they turn 65?

Hence womanly worries increase; hence tradition is felled by circumstance; hence the big feminine secret must out, even if nobody save government actuaries ever sees it. But there it will be, in black and white. What matter if it reposes dustily in Washington archives until a woman reaches 65? Even then she may insist on illusion; even at 90 she has a right to her universal perogative. Why, her hardwon ballot did not have such a cruel aftermath! What has this world come to!

MORE APARTMENTS

The idea of the "old home" always has loomed larger in fiction than in fact. This was inevitable in a new country where the incentives to "take up and move" have always been strong, and where the European custom of preserving property intact for a single heir has never widely prevailed.

A cause and effect of this is the American's partiality for apartment house dwelling. And a result of living in rented apartments is increased sense of impermanence.

This heightened preference for living in apartments is the final break with the rural traditions. The last step in urbanization. The nomads of the United States can now change with even less difficulty than the Arab, who has to at least fold up his tent. The apartment house nomad has only to send for a moving van, and not even that if he belongs to that large number sans furniture.

GOOD MANNERS ERA RETURNS

Awhile back—not far back either—there was a disposition among educators to allow the largest possible measure of liberty to children in the matter of personal conduct in order to create in them a desirable spirit of independence and initiative.

Conservative observers of that trend in pedagogy expressed doubts from the beginning with respect to its wisdom and we now have got around to a different viewpoint. College heads and public school principals are this year pleading for better manners in the classrooms, on the playgrounds, at home and in public places. Such an attitude must naturally be founded on thoughtfulness for others.

There is scarcely any doubt that more may be accomplished towards subsequent success in life by enforcement of discipline among the young than by encouraging them to avoid those restraints which spell good manners. It is one thing, of course, to be craven and cowardly and quite another thing to mingle with one's fellows, and especially one's elders, on the basis of respect for the ordinary courtesies of life.

MAKE THEM G-MEN

Christmas is coming— and the advice of J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, is that finger-print and microscope sets be given to the boys for presents instead of toy arsenals, "tommy-guns" and pistol belts.

"Last year," says Mr. Hoover, "I saw on sale for the first time so-called G-Men guns, games and automobiles. That is good psychology because it places emphasis in the child's mind on law enforcement rather than on crime."

The basic change in psychology in crime pictures has been influential in changing the hero of the boy. The G-Man is now the hero, and not the criminal.

Boys must have heroes, and their heroes should not be the criminals but the law-enforcement officers, who are far braver than the desperado, who never takes a chance and who is at heart a coward.

Mr. Hoover's advice to Santa Claus is a good one—if the boys must play at gang-warfare, give them G-Men accoutrement.

WATCHER OF THE SKY

Few people realize the extent to which the nation's amateur astronomers are contributing, night by night, to the fund of scientific knowledge.

At a recent convention of the non-professional star-gazers, it became evident that this is no haphazard field of interest, that the amateurs, indeed, are a well organized group of real standing within the realm of astronomical inquiry.

Observing variable stars, discovering new comets and conducting research studies, the amateurs have provided more than a modicum of fact of genuine value for scientists connected with our larger centres of learning.

That these watchers of the sky should persist, without thought of monetary reward, in so patient a pursuit is an inspiring commentary on their keen sense of scientific values. It may very well be that some of astronomy's greatest advances will be realized through the constant efforts of those who, in many instances, have built their own telescopes for the sheer love of the thing.

BORN LUCKY

A serious scientist agrees with astrologists that some people are born lucky by being born at the right time, but reaches his conclusion by another route than the reading of the stars. Dr. William F. Petersen, of the University of Illinois, surprised the National Academy of Science by presenting evidence, based on study of 25,000 cases, that the time of year, the weather and other influences may affect the unborn baby and its mother sufficiently to influence the child's future health, character and ability.

Among thirty-one presidents of the United States, for example, twenty-six were born between September and April, which is apparently the best time of year to be born. The pre-natal growth of Winter-born children, it is claimed, occurs during the "stable months" of the year, when the unborn baby and the mother are spared the "turbulent meteorological alterations" of other seasons, relates the Public Ledger.

This may be more curious than convincing. Dr. Petersen's theory is based on statistics, but recent pre-election polls proved that statistics may mislead those who study them. It is something new, however, that good weather should be credited for producing genius and bad weather blamed for unlucky birthdays. And as is customary in anything concerning the weather, there seems to be very little that can be done about it.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT, interrupting his journey to attend to official business, did a little fishing from a whale boat, off Port of Spain. It was poor fishing, but the President did not complain; he caught something worth while on election day to catch 46 out of a possible 48 fish is good fishing.

EUROPE AND ASIA seem to be getting a little closer to war, although many wise ones think it still far off.

Germany admits willingness to side with Japan in a fight against bolshevism. Practical Stalin, man of few words, tells Japan what he thinks of her pact with Germany by refusing to renew a treaty that permits Japan to fish in Russian waters off the coast of Eastern Siberia.

That fishing privilege is vitally important to the feeding of Japan's surplus millions, increasing at the rate of one million new Japanese every year.

PERHAPS HITLER and Japan have plans to get what they want from Russia, without Stalin's consent. England and France dealt with Germany in that fashion, after the first big war—now, they almost wish they had taken less.

During the big war, while Japan was helping herself in the East, at Germany's expense, wisely content to "observe" the Europeans butchering each other, Germany's Kaiser warner the Mikado of fearful things that would be done to him, at the end of the war.

Now that Kaiser, who would not let well enough alone, is a sad old white-haired man, exiled in Holland, while a new young German ruler, with a tiny black moustache makes a friendly treaty with the same Japan.

LANGDON POST, commissioner of housing, tells the American Federation of Labor that a great national shortage of houses exists, because there has been no building. New York City, especially, is in a bad way, according to Mr. Post; there the shortage in housing "may have tragic consequences."

THAT IS GOOD news for the building trades, and temporarily good news for landlords; they will now overbuild, as usual, politicians will seize the opportunity to raise

. . . .

LAST YEAR I read a novel named "Brothers Three," by John Oskison. I have forgotten everything about that novel but one line:

"Work at the job that means life to you."

I don't like to go to bed. I don't like to get up.

I like snakes, but those dark, slithery things that come out in the garden at night remind me of a dark and infernal aspect of nature—and give me the creeps.

Not owing a cent is a very fine feeling.

A blue jay is a savage and noisy fellow, with no respect for anybody, but who can help admiring the blue flash he makes among the green of the trees?

I know a man who will not let his wife drive his car. . . . His friends all think she'd be a safer driver than he will ever be.

I don't want everything to be as it used to be; when I think back I remember that I didn't like everything as it was.

Whenever I hear a woman singing on the concert platform, I think of Alma Gluck and wish that voices like hers could go on singing forever.

I'd rather use hammer or saw than shovel or spade.

I wish I lived where fireflies make lovely the warm summer nights. . . . I mean I wish there were fireflies where I live. . . . I don't want to live except where I live now.

I'm a cynic. . . . When I hear a man boasting about how tough he is, I don't believe him.

"No what did he get arrested for?" came the question.

"For picking grapes off an electric wire," said little Al and he wondered why no person laughed.

DEAR MISS MARKEL—It seems to me that a number of your readers might be helped by an answer to this question: How should one write a check for a doctor, a dentist or a clergyman, with or without titles? D. M.

Answer—If you mean a check drawn to any of the persons mentioned, either of the following forms is correct: Dr. John Porter; or John Porter, M.D. (or D.D.S., if a dentist). The doctor would sign his checks merely John Porter, omitting his title.

If the clergyman has such a title as Reverend or Right Reverend, he should be so designated. Some clergymen are correctly addressed as "Mr." In the latter case, the check should be drawn to "William Robinson."

The World At A Glance

Two Financial Views.
Problems Need Settlement.
Money Inrush From Abroad.

By LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Staff Writer

ONE OF THE MOST INTERESTING of post-election analyses of the trend in the United States is made by the financial editor of the Toronto Daily Star, F. B. Housser. We take the liberty of quoting from him, as he is widely read in our neighboring country to the north.

Says Mr. Housser:

"It is now several weeks since the American election, and the financial community at home and abroad have had time to digest the result. The result, as indicated by the comment in formerly anti-Roosevelt journals, is worth tabulating.

"The first thing that has been noted is that the Republican party will be almost without a spokesman in the new senate when it assembles in January, and there is little left by any opposition in either chamber. In American financial and business circles this is seen as a calamity because, to quote the Financial Chronicle, 'Nothing that has occurred demands or could demand that the vast number of sensible men and women' — like the editor of the Chronicle—'who are sincerely convinced that the programs of the New Deal are unsound and dangerous, should lay aside their convictions and lend their aid and support to further development of the ideas and measures that underlie the New Deal.'

"This is the attitude in financial circles at home. Abroad Roosevelt's re-election brought renewed hope of an eventual settlement of some of the world's knottiest problems. The political strength with which he has come back is seen as a good omen for the eventual lowering of trade barriers and settlement of war debts which are essential to any permanent stabilization of the world's leading currencies. Neither London nor Paris ever was able to see why American big business and finance have been so rough with the president. There has been a much better understanding abroad of what he has been trying to do in the last four years than there has been at home."

THREE LEADING QUESTIONS

Mr. Housser continues:

"In American business and financial circles three leading questions will regulate the outlook in the next months: First, how will Roosevelt balance his budget as he intimated he would if re-elected? Second, how will he control inflation, even with a balanced budget? Third, what is he going to do for labor, which was mainly responsible for his recent victory?

"It is impossible to adequately discuss these questions in a single article. The answer that Roosevelt makes to them will determine, among other much more important things, the course of the stock and security markets in the year 1937-1938. It is generally believed by those who claim to know Roosevelt's mind that he has at least two possible plans for balancing the budget; that he will control inflation by disturbing announcements from the White House whenever he thinks there is danger of the speculative fever running too high; and that he will give labor shorter hours with no pay decreases beginning, probably, with the railways, and the soft coal industries.

"Financially Roosevelt now has sufficient control to do as he wishes with the banking and credit machinery of the United States. Internationally he occupies almost as strong a financial position. It is admitted that the world is moving toward an entirely new conception of finance in which the United States is going to play a leading part. Premier Baldwin said the other night in a speech in Guildhall that London no longer insists upon the position of solitary financial leadership which it has held for the past century. The significance of such a statement from the prime minister of Great Britain can scarcely be exaggerated."

MONEY INRUSH

Concerning money inrush from abroad into American speculative markets, over which President Roosevelt expressed fear, Carlton Seively, financial editor of the New York Sun, has this to say:

"Foreign money is coming this way largely because of (1) the undervaluation of the dollar and (2) the considerable recovery in business induced at least in part by the inflationary measures taken by the government. Under those cir-

By EDGAR A. GUEST

AT THE START

When you're finished reading books
by the sages and the fools,
When you've left the mental mazes
of the colleges and schools,
One old-fashioned custom lingers which the world will never drop,
You must start in at the bottom if you hope to reach the top.

You may know your economics and philosophies and such,
But the knowledge that you've gathered really won't amount to much Unless you have the courage for the factory or the shop
And can start to climb the ladder from the bottom to the top.

There are some old-fashioned notions which will never pass away,
Under any sort of system boys must work from day to day
And their value will be reckoned as they labor on or stop,
But they'll never think of starting a beginner at the top.

They may change existing methods,
but there'll never come a time
When the path to high position won't be difficult to climb.
From the ladder of achievement not a single rung they'll chop.
If you scorn the bottom places you will never see the top.

Today's Yesterdays—Nov. 24, 1813—The governor of Louisiana, Tennesee-born William Charles Cole Claiborne, offered a reward of $500 for the arrest of Jean Lafittee, pirate, thus inspiring Lafitte, two days later, to post an offer of a $1,500 reward for the arrest of Governor Claiborne!

Thereafter, Lafitte walked the streets of New Orleans undeterred; the governor remained under guard.

One reason Lafitte could remain free was that he had resisted loyally all the bribes of the British to lead their naval forces against Americans who were trying to get their hands on him to hang him!

WHAT REALLY HAPPENED

Governor Landon has gone back to governing in Kansas, and talks about duck-hunting. Most of us have a suspicion, however, that the Governor isn't thinking much about governing and when he goes duck-hunting, he will probably not wait for the birds to take wing but will whale away before they rise. As grand a man as Landon may be, the probabilities are that he is subject to ordinary human emotions and he has several million new reasons for believing that a lot of people are liars. John Hamilton went down to Topeka to kid the governor and tell him that "it's all in a lifetime." But if I know anything about human nature, I take with a grain of salt

Additional assistance has been given in the preparation of Christmas Seals for the annual seal sale of the Lawrence County Anti Tuberculosis Society, which will open on November 27.

Two groups have been at the rooms of the society at 17½ South Mercer street in the past few days, checking the names of contributors who will again receive seals this year.

They were from the congregations of St. Mary's and St. Vitus churches, as follows:

St. Mary's—Mrs. Cecil Suber, Mrs. Joseph Dolan, Mrs. Emmett Dagnon, Mrs. Anna Castele, Mrs. Chas. Confer, Sara M. Flynn and Mrs. Ira F. Lazear.

cumstances the natural remedy is not the erection of barriers to the free flow of capital, but rather the correction of the ills at the source.

"(Mr. Shively means that a Socialist French government frightens capital from France to the United States.)

"Purely on the speculative side, much can be said for the part the capital gains tax is playing in the rise in stock prices. The same things were said before 1929, but few paid any attention to those who warned of the danger. Large investors buy when the outlook looks gloomy, and by the time recovery is in full swing they find they have handsome paper profits, and ordinarily they would take them. Such sales of stocks would tend to keep the market within bounds. As it is, with the heavy tax on stock market profits, investors find little inducements to safeguard their profits by sales, only to lose them through the capital gains tax.

"Another tax measure which, just as widely predicted at the time of its adoption, is doing much to accentuate the bull movement in stocks, is the undistributed profits tax. It is impossible not to think that the hullabaloo attending the hundreds of heavy extra dividend disbursements now being made by corporations, forced by the penalty tax, is stimulating speculation in stocks. So long as the government with its right hand is doing what it can, with unsound tax measures and with a monetary policy that at least flirts widely with inflation to encourage a speculative boom in stocks and commodities, it need not be surprised if its left hand proves to be powerless to stop the movement."

what has been said about the interview with the governor. Here is about how Landon greeted him.

"Well, well, if here isn't the world's greatest political prophet. What a great friend you turned out to be. It seems to me the last I heard of you, you were walking in your sleep about midnight the day of election, not knowing the election was over and muttering to yourself about hearing from the rural districts.

"And then I seem to remember some wisecracks about the election being in the bag, but what bag? Then there was something about a typical prairie state and Call-Me-Jim Farley. Can you recall any of these things, Mister Hamilton?

"As I glance back over what has happened to me the past few months I am about convinced that we were all wet.

"Here I was a happy Governor of a proud commonwealth. I have a wife and family who thought I was the greatest guy in the world. Now, what do you suppose they think? I would advise you to keep out of sight of the wife. And there's Peggy Ann. She believed you when you said I would be elected. She was all ready to move to Washington. She never thought of it till you came along. Now she's a wreck.

"I've worked hard, saved my money and was ready to do something for my country. I was happy, contented, was doing a satisfactory business with my oil interests, had money enough to provide comforts and luxuries for the family, go hunting, smoke my pipe and take a trip to the mountains in the summer. And you—you breeze in and throw my carcass to the Democratic lions. Now, if you ever mention Washington, the Presidential yacht, or commander-in-chief of the army and navy to me again, you will be doing so at your own peril, I won't be accountable for the consequences."

TITUSVILLE, Pa., Nov. 24—Whirled about by the line shaft of a wood-sawing machine, operated by an old automobile engine, Marvine Hart, 17, of Shamburg, was severely injured while feeding timber into the machine.

taxes and presently money lenders will be once more selling real estate under foreclosures.

Life, is a brief game of see-saw—now UP that is prosperity, then DOWN that is depression. The budget is not the only thing that needs balancing.

OUR NEIGHBOR, Nicaragua well advanced in modern intelligence, establishes a military flying school, orders fighting planes from the United States, hires a first-class instructor. There is progress everywhere, and you realize it when you read in Chapter 26 of Westermarck's "The Origin and Development of the Moral Ideas."

In ancient Nicaragua women were held unworthy to perform any duty in connection with the temples, and were immolated outside the temple ground of the large sanctuaries, and even their flesh was unclean food for the high priest, who accordingly ate on'y the flesh of males.

WHAT A JUMP from a civilization in which the high priest would not eat ladies that had been slaughtered, to a modern air school in which young Nicaraguan women, once excluded from the temples, will be allowed to fly planes and learn how to release bombs.

LORD BEAVERBROOK arrived in New York on the Bremen in the morning, sailed again on the Bremen the same night, looked at his new American airplane, and told the world:

"War is improbable, because no nation dares to fight."

The statement might have been more accurate, had he said no national except the nations of Mussolini, Hitler, Stalin, Kemal Pasha, and the Japanese Mikado. Some of those actually crave war.

He might also have excepted this country, Uncle Sam does not want to fight, never does fight unless some power abroad or some ass at home forces war on him. Then he managed to take care of himself.

These questions that you may have asked, will be answered by time, perhaps one, perhaps two years time.

ARE we having inflation in America now, with the pouring out of extra dividends, bonuses, etc? Are we spending too suddenly and free'y accumulated corporation surpluses of several years? What will happen when there are no more surpluses?

Are we going back into 1929 recklessness, just as hard times and bitter experience had begun to educate us? Or is the country now learning to use its financial resources, as it has started using the hitherto wasted waters of the Colorado River?

Water accumulated in a lake, or reservoir, does little good until you spill it out on the dry land, but is too much being spi led suddenly?

MUSSOLINI is a grandfather, but not old and proves it by fencing violently for thirty-five minutes, first with a young cadet then with a fencing master.

With all his terrific energy, the Italian leader should remember that the heart is a pump that grows old, although courage does not. Mussolini's heart has had many severe shocks, before and since he was torn by bullets in the big war and carried off for dead on a stretcher.

He may work as he likes with his brain, but should treat his heart cautiously. That applies too all past 50.

PENNSYLVANIA hard anthracite coal mines are closed down; so-called "bootleg miners" get out the coal and then haul and sell it, in defiance of law, occasionally going to jail.

It is interesting to remember that not very long ago, a Philadelphia man was put in jail for selling anthracite coal as fuel. Judge and jury decided that it was criminal to suggest that you could burn "those black stones."

It was not until years later that he realized the tremendous discovery he overlooked.

Dress up your apple sauce a bit by flavoring with vanilla and adding about half a dozen marshmallows, beaten in while sauce is hot. This will make a fluffy sauce. If you like caramel flavor, use brown sugar instead of granulated and omit the vanilla.

Weissmuller And Naval Officer In Night Club Tangle

Lots Of Black Eyes And Cracked Lips Today To Show For Scrap Outside Night Club

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Nov. 24—Johnny (Tarzan) Weissmuller says he didn't start it.

Lieut. Cameron Winslow, Jr., U. S. N., and very social, didn't start it either.

But is was a lively head-punching contest while it lasted. And if nobody started it, practically everybody helped to finish it.

The result today was a very good crop of black eyes and cracked lips.

The real sparring raised plenty of bedlam outside the Stork club, well known Manhattan night spot. But the difference arose inside.

According to eye witnesses, Lieut. Winslow was seated at a table pensively smoking a cigarette while his wife, Mrs. Natalie Hess Winslow was dancing.

At that moment, Tarzan entered at the head of a troop of people, all wearing dark glasses (nobody knows why.)

Lieutenant Winslow insisted that Weissmuller, with impunity and without provocation, smacked the cigarette out of his mouth.

Weissmuller deposes that Lieutenant Winslow made some crack about his dark glasses. Anyhow, the Lieutenant asked Johnny outside and Johnny asked the lieutenant outside.

Everybody went outside.

Gives Recollections Of Old Erie Canal

Giving recollections of a part of the old Erie canal, where it extended from Beaver Falls to Rock Point, where the Connoquenessing empties into the Beaver river, the following is contributed by Thomas Bannon Matheny, now 78 years old, and well known to many old timers here.

My recent trip on the barge from 19th. Street, New Brighton to the New Montgomery Dam, has brought to my mind, the wonderful changes that have been made since the days when the Canal operated along the Beaver River.

I was only a boy at that time and lived with my parents at Clinton, Pa., Lawrence County, just opposite of Rock Point, where the Connoquenessing empties into the Beaver river the stream of Connoquenessing was unnavigable due to the bed being so rocky that one could scarcely row a skiff across the stream. But at the mouth of this stream is very deep.

The Erie Canal which was started in 1836, but was not completed until 1840, and was consummated in 1872, after which was abondoned and its bed in some places occupied by railroad tracks.

There were five locks between Rochester and Rock Point—from the dam at Beaver Falls to Rock Point, it was called the seven mile level, the canal was quite small, as indeed were all canals constructed by New York and Pennsylvania at this period, providing a depth of four feet in the canal prism, with locks so small, (90x15 feet) that boats of only 50 to 60 tons could be passed through.

In those days speed was not so essential, passengers who ate supper at Rochester, were in New Castle in time for breakfast.

On the east side of the canal, just across from Clinton, now called Hoytdale, was a large blast furnace owned and operated by the Oliphants; who received and shipped their products on the canal as this was their only means of transportation.

Across river from the furnace owned by the Oliphants, W. L. Scott & Company opened a coal mine on the Baker farm At this time, they would load the coal in small cars and send them down through Bakers Hollow to the Canal Dock, and the empty cars were pulled back to the mine by horses or mules.

The locks at Rock Point were operated by Philip Seltzer and son, John, who also operated a ferry from Rock Point to the opposite side of the river, at this lock, the Connoquenessing was so deep, that the horses or mules that pull the canal boats, had to be taken across the mouth of the Connoquenessing on flat boats.

In the year 1836, the Stone House at Rock Point was built by my Uncle Aaron Matheny (Metheny) and this hostlery became a favorite stopping place for patrons of the canal Through this lock, President James A. Garfield, when a boy, was a driver of a boat on the canal, and the room in which he slept, in the Matheny Inn is still pointed out; some of the famous men like, Charles Dickens Thomas Moore, and other prominent men passed through this lock, when the Canal was the only means to travel except the wilderness roads. James Fenimore Cooper, once stayed at the Old Matheny Inn and wandered up Connoquenessing gorge for several miles. He was a great lover of nature and the Connoquenessing in those days with its bright sperkling water rolling over the rocks, was an attractive sight.

At this point is where I spent my boyhood days, fishing, swimming and watching the boats go through the locks, through these locks, the boats, I remember were named—Juanita, May, Mayflower, Rainbow and also two small steamers, the Monitor and Merrimac, and also spent many a day at the Matheny Inn. My mother's cousins, George, Hamilton and Albert Bannon owned boats that were operated on the canal.

After a quarter of a mile on the opposite side of the river from Rock Point, there were two Coal Docks, one owned by James Pierce and Charles Harmony and the other owned by Wilson, Lee and Patterson. These mines would load the coal in 3 ton dump cars and were run down grade through a hollow for about a mile to the Canal dock and the empties were also drawn back up the grade by mules or horses—many a day, I rode the mule or horse, for fifty cents a day, pulling the cars back to the mines, the coal which could only be shipped during the summer, was dug during the winter and stored away to be ready, when the Spring season opened. On the opposite side of the river, there were coal mines and docks owned by Spanglers.

In the town of Wampum, was another blast furnace owned and operated by the Kayes family.

This same W. L. Scott & Co. that owned and operated the coal mine on the Baker farm, went to Girard, Penna., built a railroad connecting the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern, this railroad was built between Girard and Homewood, Pa.

This railroad put the canal out of existence, due to the greater speed and more tonnage. And at the age of 23, I secured a job as a brakeman on this road at New Castle, on March 1882, as this was called the Erie and Pittsburgh Division; now owned by the Pennsylvania Railroad, and after having nearly 50 years of service and I was pensioned in October 1928, by the Pennsylvania Railroad.

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Reri, Polynesian actress, tells about a recent visit to her native Tahiti: "They have a radio station now which broadcasts programs when talent shows up, and when no one comes they just shut down.

State Court To Decide On New Trial For Pair

Counsel For Mrs. Karmendi And Roy Lockard Argue That Trial Judge Erred

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 24.—The state supreme court today was weighing the new trial appeals of Mrs. Margaret Karmendi and Roy Lockard, of Altoona, convicted of murdering the woman's three-year-old son, Matthew Karmendi, Jr., last April.

Frank J. Reiser, Jr., defense attorney, told the high tribunal:

"Mrs. Karmendi is innocent and Lockard is insane."

The appellants contended that the trial judge erred when the defense was not permitted to call witnesses to testify as to acts and incidents in Lockard's daily conduct to show that he is legally insane.

Defense counsel declared also that the question of Lockard's insanity should have been determined by the jury and advanced 15 specifications of error averred to have been committed by Judge Marion D. Patterson, before whom the case was tried in the lower court.

Action Urged By Security Board

All States Urged To Enact Unemployment Insurance Laws

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—Acclaiming the supreme court's 4-to-4 decision upholding the New York unemployment system, the federal social security board appealed to all states today to enact unemployment insurance laws.

Administration champions of social security, happy over the court's ruling, foresaw approval of much, if not all, of the gigantic federal social security program which includes unemployment insurance taxes.

With 16 states now having unemployment insurance laws, under which taxes are levied to provide a fund to pay benefits to persons losing their jobs, Chairman John G. Winant, of the social security board, said others should move quickly to obtain federal benefits.

While the court's devision was limited to affirming the ruling of the New York court of appeals that the state law did not violate the federal constitution, administration lawyers and court observers contended the decision has a "practical significance" which makes it a momentous one.

NEW CASTLE MAN IN AUTO CRASH

BUTLER, Pa., Nov. 24.—Approximately $300 property damage was caused when two automobiles collided head-on on the Kittanning street bridge, on Route 422, near the eastern edge of the city.

According to the police report, an automobile, owned and operated by James Scarlett, Negro, of 436 Neshannock avenue, New Castle, traveling west, failed to make the dangerous curve just east of the bridge, scene of two fatal traffic crashes within the past year.

Police said Scarlett's car collided head-on with an automobile owned by Lillian Parks of Dayton, and operated by George Lewis, also of Dayton, who was driving east.

Scarlett suffered a slight cut on one ear in the crash.

Correct this sentence: "I know they are gentry," said she, "for they are still arrogant and haughty after losing their money."

Hatchet-Slayer To Die In Chair

ERIE, Pa., Nov. 24.—Paul Ferry, 39-year-old convicted hatchet-slayer, today was under sentence to die in the electric chair for the brutal slaying of his wife. The sentence was handed down by Judge William E. Hirt, after an opinion, signed by Judge Hirt and Judge J. Orin Waite, denied him a new trial.

Gov. George H. Earle will set the electrocution date.

Ferry was convicted by hacking his wife to death in the basement of their Eastside home.

WASHINGTON AT A GLANCE

Security Board Faces Huge Task

Social Security Program Has Tremendous Number Of Complications

IS COMPARED TO INSURANCE

Central Press
Washington Bureau
602 Times-Herald Bldg.
By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—The human brain reels at the complications involved in the administration of the social security program, just getting under weigh.

Infinity hasn't much on it.

Its actuarial calculations run into astronomical figures.

If all the numbers of policy holders in all the insurance companies in the country were added together, the total would have to be multiplied several times over to aggregate the number involved in the social security act.

ONE SLOW, OTHER SPEEDY

But private insurance companies were a slow growth.

They built up their systems and their staffs of experts as they went along.

Social security was almost an overnight creation.

Naturally it was a hit-or-miss product.

Its purpose not only was good but logical.

Waive the matter of unemployment insurance; consider only old age pensions. Superannuated workers cannot be permitted simply to starve to death. It is less expensive, as well as more humane, to pension them, rather than to let them die in poorhouses.

AS BEST FRIEND

But the mechanism, to pension them off?

It was scrabbled together in hot haste.

Ex-Governor John G. Winant of New Hampshire, the security board's first chairman, was and is the plan's best friend.

Winant, however, did not contend that the plan was perfect. Contrariwise, he said, it was a most IM-perfect plan. Far from opposing corrections in it, he URGED correction of the law. He reasoned only that the principle was right.

NOT WELL ORGANIZED

The board is making its get-away, then, in a state of the most hopeless disorganization.

It is the biggest unit, numerically, under the stars and stripes.

It began with no place even to house it.

Its personnel had desks in the corridors of the new labor department building. Later, the old labor department building, supposedly abandoned, too, was not big enough for it. It overflowed into the streets of Washington.

Washington could not roof it.

It had to find office space for hundreds of its workers in Baltimore.

It has spread thoughout the country elsewhere—into the post office department; anywhere it can find room.

INFORMATION UNOBTAINABLE

And, for weeks, it had no head.

Winant resigned during the recent presidential campaign in order to be free to defend the law. Now he has returned—temporarily.

Suppose one tries to obtain social security information first hand, in Washington.

None is to be had, except from a group of attractive young women secretaries.

That is not a good way of introducing a new economic system of major proportions.

Franklin Version Of Thanksgiving

Hardships Of Early Settlers Are Outlined In Traditions Of Pioneers

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 24.—Approach of Thanksgiving day has rekindled interest here in Benjamin Franklin's simple explanation of the holiday's tradition.

Franklin's version of the origin of Thanksgiving is contained in his little story illustrating common sense, retold in the current monthly publication of the Franklin institute:

"There is a tradition that, in the planting of New England, the first settlers met with many difficulties and hardships, as is generally the case when a civilized people attempt establishing themselves in a wilderness country. Being piously disposed, they sought relief from heaven by laying their wants and distresses before the Lord, in frequent set days of fasting and prayer.

"Constant meditation and discourse on these subjects kept their minds gloomy and discontented; and, Like the children of Israel, there were many disposed to return to that Egypt, which persecution had induced them to abandon. At length, when it was proposed in the assembly to proclaim another fast, a farmer of some plain sense rose and remarked that the inconveniences they suffered, and concerning which they had so often wearied heaven with their complaints, were not as great as they might have expected, and were diminishing every day, as the colony strengthened; that the earth began to reward their labor, and to furnish liberally for their subsistence; that the seas and rivers were found full of fish, the air sweet, the climate healthy and, above all, that they were there in the full enjoyment of liberty, civil and religious. He therefore thought that instead of a fast they should proclaim a thanksgiving.

Second Baptist To Have Thanksgiving Service Wednesday

There will be a Thanksgiving service conducted in the Second Baptist church on Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Rev. E. Walker will deliver the sermon. Special features will be a solo by Mrs. Georgianne Walker and a reading by Charles Stanton.

Music will be given by the junior choir. At the close the senior choir will have its weekly rehearsal

Rev. W. W. Nelson is pastor of the church.

YES, THIS FOOD ENDS YOUR CONSTIPATION

Look out for those half-sick days, when you feel listless, headachy, out-of-sorts. Your trouble may be constipation. The real cause of common constipation is too little "bulk" in meals. Your system misses its regular exercise.

Get this needed "bulk" in a delicious cereal: Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. Within the body, its "bulk" absorbs moisture, forms a soft mass, gently sponges out the system.

Why keep on feeling bad when you can feel good? Millions of people use ALL-BRAN. Tests prove it's safe and effective. ALL-BRAN is guaranteed. Try it a week. If not satisfactory, your money will be refunded by the Kellogg Company.

Two tablespoonfuls daily are usually sufficient. Serve as a cereal, with milk or cream, or cook into recipes. Remember, ALL-BRAN also supplies vitamin B and iron.

Certainly you'd rather eat a food than take pills and drugs. Buy ALL-BRAN at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Navy Construction Hikes Yard Jobs To Peacetime Records

Biggest Rush Of Cruiser Work In U. S. History Reaches Peak

NEW YORK—The biggest rush of cruiser construction in the United States Navy's history has reached its peak of activity, it was disclosed today, bringing employment at East Coast construction yards to record peacetime heights.

The first of a series of new 10,000-ton cruisers, the Philadelphia, was launched at that city last Tuesday, and naval authorities here announced plans for the baptism of a sister ship, the Brooklyn, at the Brooklyn Navy Yard November 30.

Construction of eleven cruisers has been centered in five East Coast yards.

Other construction and modernization work has brought employment at Brooklyn to a new peacetime record of 9000 to 10,000 men. Nearly 7000 are regular employees and the remainder WPA workers. Other yards, naval authorities said also have peak work schedules since the war.

Colder And Wetter Winters Foreseen, Including This One

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—An old-fashioned "ear-muff" winter with plenty of skating and sledding for youngsters and higher fuel and clothing bills for adults was the "best guess" today of weather experts here, who recognize that there are long-time trends from "hot and dry" eras to those that are "cold and wet." The country, they believe, now is entering the latter cycle.

Since the World War there has been a cycle of warm, mild winters. That this is ending is indicated by this cautious Weather Bureau statement:

"There is some evidence that the general trend toward comparatively warm dry winters that has been in evidence for a quarter of a century has reached its peak and a downward swing toward colder, wetter winters has begun."

Dr. C. G. Abbott, of the Smithsonian Institution, who has been experimenting with long-range forecasting through solar radiation studies, agreed with this opinion and said that a downward trend in average temperatures was indicated the next two or three years.

Technical Experts Will Discuss Coal

Meeting Of Scientific Men To Be Held In Pittsburgh On December 3

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 24—A group of technical men drawn from chiefly the coal and railroad industries will meet at the Carnegie Institute of Technology here December 3 to hear members of the coal research laboratory give reports which will interpret industry.

This meeting sponsored by the research laboratory will also mark the sixth anniversary of the founding of the unique scientific enterprise, the only one of its kind in America.

Following technical discussions, Dr. Thomas S. Baker, president emeritus of Carnegie Tech and founder of the laboratory, will give a dinner to Myron C. Taylor, chairman of the board of the U. S. Steel Corporation, and one of the original sponsors of the laboratory.

The dinner will also be attended by members of the Buhl foundation, the largest contributor to the laboratory, and of firms supporting the research organization, as well as coal company and coal-carrying railroad executives

Three papers reporting the activities of the coal laboratory will be given by members of the staff. William B. Warren will explain "the relation of the work of the laboratory to practical carbonization." M. A. Myers will talk on "the combustion of solid fuel" and Dr. H. C. Howard will deliver a paper on "The Chemistry of bituminous coal."

An important feature of the meeting will be discussions by experts from industry.

South Side Churches Have Thanksgiving Service Wednesday

The churches of the South Side will hold their union Thanksgiving service Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the Italian M. E. church, at the corner of South Mill and Phillips streets. The other churches taking part in the service are the Central Christian, Emmanuel Baptist Maitland Primitive Methodist and the Welsh Congregational.

The Rev. John Ruggiero is pastor of the host church.

STUDEBAKER DEFLATES GAS MILEAGE CLAIMS!

STUDEBAKER cars have made magnificent records in gasoline economy. But you don't care about records achieved under special circumstances. You want to know what good, bad and indifferent drivers get under average conditions!

O. K. We will tell you!

Studebaker hired Facts, Incorporated, of New York, a business research organization, to question 500 owners of each of the ten most popular makes of automobiles (1936 models). Each driver was asked: "What gasoline mileage do you get?"

The best showing was made by Studebaker. Owners of the Dictator, with overdrive, testified to an average of 18.166 miles per gallon. Even the most popular lightest weight, lowest priced cars used more gas per mile.

Without overdrive, the Studebaker Dictator showed 17.199 miles per gallon—which is better than one of the two most popular, lowest priced cars.

STUDEBAKER'S CHALLENGE
No other standard make of car can beat the gas mileage of the Dictator equipped with automatic overdrive in the hands of the average driver under ordinary conditions.

Credit Bureau Re-Elects Five Old Directors

Reorganization Meeting Of Board Will Take Place Friday At Noon

OFFICERS TO BE NAMED FOR YEAR

Re-election of the five retiring members of the board of directors of the New Castle Credit Exchange was declared Monday by the board of tellers after the votes had been counted in the annual election which was conducted by mail this year.

The five are Carl E. Paisley, who has been president during the past year, Emanuel Shenkan, J. C. Miner, Norman E. Clark and John S. Abel.

Forecasts Big Gain In Holiday Buying

Credit Group Official Asserts Season Will Be Best Since 1929

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—The best holiday season since 1929 for business thruout the United States was predicted oday by Henry H. Heimann, executive manager of the National Association of Credit Men.

Heimann, in his monthly review sent to 20,000 association members in manufacturing, wholesaling and banking firms, based his prediction "on the general current record of the reliable indices of business activity and progress."

"While business expects added costs from taxes and labor demands," he said, "the consuming body is faced with an increasing cost of living. But generally the outlook over the short range is decidedly favorable."

Heimann said the automobile industry "is working at production peaks" with an indicated demand better than in 1935, the steel industry is operating around 75 per cent capacity, almost 50 per cent over last year, and electric power production, carloadings, bituminous coal and petroleum production, bank clearing, employment and payrolls are all ahead of levels a year ago.

EVENING PARTY

Members of the Young People's Christian Union, and counsellors Mr. and Mrs. Willis McBridge, of the Christian church had a delightful time Saturday evening at the church. The affair was in the form of a shower for Mr. and Mrs. Harry Smith, a bride and groom of recent date, and a farewell party for the Mack children, who expect to move to New Castle soon. All received a collection of lovely gifts. A scavanger hunt by the young folks provided plenty of entertainment for the crowd as they went to all parts of the town to hunt the different articles, a prize was given the group returning first with the most articles.

My New York

By James Aswell

Copyright, 1936, Central Press Association

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—Mr. William J. Cameron, an automobile company executive, reveals that automobiles only cost 20 cents a pound now. He points out that beefsteak brings 30 cents a pound and a suit of clothes runs to $7.50 per pound. A piano sets you back at least 87 cents a pound, while a radio goes for about $1.65 a pound.

I hope this system of computation doesn't get wide publicity in New York, where the citizenry has been known to go haywire over even less convincing nifties. Yet there is no doubting that the idea has its possibilities. Even Technocracy failed, during its brief ascendancy, to open up so many dazzling vistas.

The day may come when everything is priced by the pound. Three-cent stamps, honest weight, cost $300 a pound and if Mr. Farley can spare the time from his busy philanthropies, he might devote some study to ironing out this exploitation of the underprivileged. The stickers could be printed on heavy cardboard, with a great saving in cost per pound, or they could be manufactured in the form of cubes with a lead center.

In the latter case a three-cent stamp could be made to tilt the scales at an even pound, thus reducing the price from $300 to three cents. This clear saving on the part of the public could be deducted from the public debt and result in a vast flood of black ink to the Treasury's books, as real as the profit chalked up when we devalued the dollar.

There is no reason why the system shouldn't be extended to the appraisal of human beings. Sinclair Lewis, since he went to work for the W. P. A., has been drawing $1,500 a week in relief funds, royalties on his play, "It Can't Happen Here." Now this might seem like a lot of money to pay a single relief registrant, but when you figure that Mr. Lewis weighs 150 pounds, you instantly realize that the Nobel prize winner is worth all of $10 per pound per week—far less than three-cent stamp at current prices. And a stamp, in use, doesn't even last a week.

A few vulgar carpers suggested that "It Can't Happen Here" wouldn't have lasted a week on Broadway, under the outmoded system of free and often fierce competition prevalent in that reactionary alley, but Mr. Lewis needn't worry about that and neither need we, for of course it is beside our point.

The pound method of pricing, long tacitly in effect among book publishers, ought to be brought out into the open and Mr. Cameron's revelations may start the movement. The nice old lady who protested paying $2.50 for a 200-page book when she had bought a 400-page volume the week before for the same price will merely change her phraseology, come the New Day.

"What?" she will exclaim. "A dollar a pound for Agatha Christie? I can get some nice Dashiell Hammett around the corner for seventy-eight cents. What are you asking today for your Hergesheimer? And please don't quote me on the weight of Mr. Hergesheimer but on the book itself. Somebody tried that on me last week with Irvin S. Cobb."

Naturally the Better Business Bureaus will have to keep a sharp eye out for misleading ads. "Anthony Adverse, Reduced to 18c per pound," might sound like a great bargain until the customer tried to muscle out the book. And "Gone With the Wind, A Special at 39c per pound—Cheaper Than Porterhouse" would stay within the bounds of a rigid technical truth but the customers would be apt to rush down to the store with too little cash in their pockets to effect a purchase.

In the matter of the second partial account of Mrs. Margaret R. Dunn, administratrix in the estate of the late William G. Dunn, Judge Chambers has handed down an opinion dismissing exceptions to the auditors report.

Sixty instruments of all kinds were entered at the register and recorder's office last week. Of this number thirty six were deeds and twelve were mortgages. Six of the morigages were to building and loans, five to individuals, and one to a trust company.

The legislature has a group investigating the cost of local governments. What would be more to the point would be to investigate the cost of state government. The people back home are responsible for the cost of local government.

In the case of the commonwealth against James Barone, who was convicted in a maternity case, Judge Chambers has handed down an opinion in which a motion for arrest of judgement, and for a new trial are dismissed.

Election ballots will not be so large in 1937. Only the Republican and Democratic parties polled enough votes at the election this month to qualify for getting their candidates on the ballot. This is the first time in 35 years or more that such a condition has prevailed.

County Commissioners have been comparing some of the county assessors books, just made out for the triennial assessment, with those which were made out three years ago. In some townships it is found that the valuations have been placed at about the same as those of three years ago, while in others they have been lowered. In very few instances have the valuations been placed any higher.

In the case of the Lawrence Savings and Trust Company against H. L. Dunlap, which was argued before Judge James A. Chambers and Judge George Rowley of Mercer, an opinion has been handed down in which a rule granted on defendant's petition to open judgment, is discharged. The case involved a note payable to H. L. Dunlap signed by William H. Dunlap, Jr., and assigned to plaintiff. The assignment purported to be executed by H. L. Dunlap. The petition alleged that he was not here at the time but was in Hollywood, Cal.. However, he was later shown the note at the bank, and made no comment on the signature to bank officials, but is alleged to have commented on the same to Charles Shaw.

Judge Chambers has handed down an opinion refusing a new trial in the case of the People's National Bank of Ellwood City against Harriett M. Bartel and Howard Johnson. The case was heard by Judge Chambers and Judge George Rowley of Mercer, sitting en banc, Judge Braham having been disqualified by reasons of having been interested in the case before his election. The case is one of long standing. In 1925 Don Bartel was in business at Ellwood City and needed money. His father, O. E. Bartel and Howard Johnson went on a note with him at the bank. Renewals were made until the death of O. E. Bartel. About this time Don Bartel apparently left. After the death of O. E. Bartel, Harriet M. Bartel, widow and mother of Don Bartel, went to the bank and executed a renewal note jointly with Johnson. This was renewwed several times until May 1930, when a note on which judgment was later confessed, was made. Johnson contended that he had notified the bank that he would not go on any more notes and to collect from Mrs. Bartel. He claimed that he had gone to the bank after the note had become due and had been told that it had been taken care of. At the trial of the case the verdict was in favor of Johnson.

Continue Hunt For Victims Of Juneau 'Slide'

Seven Bodies Have Been Recovered So Far, Believe At Least 25 Are Dead

SMOKE CASTS EERIE PALL

(International News Service)

JUNEAU, Alaska, Nov. 24.—Black smoke billowing up through crevices in the tons of mud and rock that swept away a section of Juneau made an eerie pall today, as hundreds of volunteer workers rushed the search for victims.

Seven bodies have been recovered. Little hope is held for survival of others, possibly as many as 25, still buried under the avalanche that thundered down onto the city from the slopes of Mt. Roberts.

Dead Identified

Identified dead were Mrs. Gus Erickson, negress; Mrs. Georgie Lee, Mr. and Mrs. James Hoag and Forrest Beudin, son of Mrs. Hoag.

Two others, a man and a woman, were not identified immediately.

Nine persons injured, rescued from edges of the avalanche shortly after it struck, were at St. Anne's hospital, at least two in a critical condition.

For hours after the slide struck, faint cries for help could be heard from far beneath the layer of debris, but all is ominously silent now, except for the sound of the rescue work.

Progress is slow. Not for nearly a week, police estimated, will all the mud be cleared away and the full extent of the disaster revealed.

Mayor I. Goldstein said the city might order evacuation of the section of Juneau facing the mountain, from which many other lesser slides have hurtled. Following 55 days of almost steady rain, there is danger of further avalanches.

Winter Driving Requires Care

Motor Head Warns Of Need For Proper Preparations For Winter Driving

Winter driving places a heavy strain on automobiles, as well as drivers, unless adequate precautions are taken to see that cars are prepared to function with maximum efficiency and safety, according to Alec Samuels, president of the New Castle Motor Club.

"In addition to cleansing the cooling system and putting in an antifreeze," said the A. A. A. club executive, "motorists should check the battery to see that it is strong enough for cold-weather starting, check tires to see that the tread gives a good road grip and that the brakes are good and equalized. A check of the electrical system may also reveal weakness that affect starting."

Warming the engine of the car on cold mornings so that it will function smoothly before entering heavy traffic is a sure way to avoid winter accidents, Mr. Samuels added. He continued.

"In addition to avoiding a possible rear-end crash if the car stops suddenly," he said, "warming the engine will also save time and prevent frayed tempers. Too often the motorist who fails to warm the engine of his car before starting out has it stop suddenly and then floods the carburetor in trying to start it. This means delay and causes traffic congestion.

"It is particularly important that motorists should know their cars in cold weather. Many models have carburetor heaters, which, if properly adjusted, will make starting easier. Proper adjustment of the timing points, clean spark plugs and, of course, a strong battery are also helpful in overcoming starting difficulties. Practice with the choke so that it will give just the right amount of gasoline needed when the thermometer is low is another factor."

Mrs. Simpson To Entertain

Alterations Being Made At Her Home In Cumberland Terrace

By DAVID P. SENTNER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

(Copyright, 1936, by International News Service)

LONDON, Nov. 24.—Mrs. Wallis Warfield Simpson is planning minor alterations at her home in Cumberland Terrace in anticipation of doing considerable entertaining this winter, it was learned today.

Mrs. Simpson, who has returned to Cumberland Terrace after a week-end at King Edward's country home, Fort Belvedere, with her aunt, Mrs. D. B. Merryman of Washington, is devoting particular attention to her dining room.

She has relieved the austerity of the room's oaken walls and wrought-iron fixtures with several new pieces of furniture.

Mrs. Simpson is inclined to light, modern decorations. Her fashionable flat in Bryanston Square was done in this style, with the living room walls in pale apple-green and those of the bedroom in aquamarine blue.

Similar color schemes in hangings and covers are now being worked out in the eight-room house she leased from Mrs. Cuthbert Stewart until the end of May.

The drawing room walls and hangings are now a delicate green with a hint of gray, and the walnut furniture has been covered with green satin. The room is lighted by crystal chandeliers.

NAVAL SITUATION HOLDING THREAT IN SPANISH WAR

request to grant neutral zones for shipping, and Britain came back directly with a formal warning that she expects no interference with operations of her merchant vessels.

Balk Import Of Arms

In London, the Fascist triumvirate of Germany, Italy and Portugal which constitute chief foreign support of the Spanish Rebels, repeatedly balked efforts to create an international watch over imports of arms to Spain.

The battle for Madrid, meanwhile, although dwareed in world importance when compared to the naval crisis centering about Barcelona, nevertheless continued grave. H. R. Knickerbocker cabled it was evident the Rebels would completely level all buildings which the Loyalists used as forts. Rebel guns began to wreck completely the former royal palace, one of the most luxurious buildings in Europe.

Latest Intervention Charges

Madrid, Nov. 24.—Additional charges of German and Italian intervention in the Spanish civil war, with the sinking of several Spanish food-ships laid to mysterious attackers, were made by the Loyalist government today as the international phase of the conflict neared a crisis.

Amplifying an original communique inferentially accusing a German destroyer of possible connection with torpedoing of the Loyalist cruiser Miguel de Cervantes at Cartagena, the government went to great length in outlying its charges of foreign aid to the Rebels.

German and Italian warships in Spanish waters, the Loyalists asserted, did not wait for Berlin and Rome to extend recognition to General Francisco Franco's insurgent regime before lending all possible aid to his fleet.

"Warships of these two nations," the communique declared, "which appeared in increasing numbers off our coast since the beginning of July, have been committing acts in contravention of neutrality and have constantly given aid to units of the Spanish fleet which remain in Rebel hands.

Spanish Vessels Sunk

"In the course of recent weeks, nocturnal bombardments from the sea have occurred at several points along the eastern coast. Several Spanish vessels laden with food have been sunk in the Mediterranean. These attacks have always been attributed to the Rebel cruiser Canarias, but the Canarias was sometimes far from the scene.

"The Republican fleet has been constantly spied upon by these foreign ships and the Rebels notified of its position.

"It is clear that aerial attacks on certain Mediterranean towns have been based on a similar system of intelligence."

Listing alleged violations of neutrality, the communique cited the following:

1—The German battleship Deutchland on August 4 prevented the Republican fleet from attacking Ceuta by anchoring in the line of fire.

2—A German destroyer at Cartagena has constantly reported Republican fleet movements to the enemy by radio.

3—A foreign warship, allegedly German, appeared daily at Malaga until the end of September, remaining illuminated at night, thus defeating the government's efforts to black out the town against air raiders.

Meanwhile, General Quiepo de Llano, insurgent spokesman, charged in a broadcast from Seville that the crew of an unnamed British cargo vessel were arrested at Rosas, north of Barbelona, and taken to the Catalonian capital by Loyalist troops.

AROUND CITY HALL

Councilmanic worries piled up today as it developed the city appropriations for 1937 must be completed during the first week of December. After the budget is compiled it is whipped into a councilmanic bill which will be adopted toward the last of the month.

Tuesday morning was dangerous for the operation of automobiles on hills, according to city officials, and owing to ice on the paved hills the street department sent trucks loaded with ashes to the slippery inclines. Under the law the city is not compelled to ash streets, but does so to prevent accidents.

Signs are being placed in Neshannock avenue. They prohibit parking on the north side between North street and Rural avenue. The ordinance to that effect will not be enforced until all signs have been erected. Under a present ordinance parking is banned entirely in the avenue between East and North streets.

Female Fish Live Longer Than Males

(International News Service)

SACRAMENTO, Cal.—The female of the species may be deadlier than the male, but they also manage to live longer—at least as far as fish are concerned.

It appears according to experts of the California state division of fish and game that piscatorial males are fast dwindling, thus causing heavy expense to artificial propagation and proving a real threat to fish culture.

Herbert C. Davis, executive officer of the commission, has it all figured out.

"Male fish take the lure more readily than the opposite sex" says Davis explaining it is not uncommon for a catch to be composed four-fifths of male fish.

"And for some unknown reason, artificial propagation tends to increase the number of female fish."

Orchestra Leader Befuddles Clerk

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA — Eugene Ormandy, new leader of the Philadelphia orchestra, was once mistaken for a juggler while going through his artistic gyrations.

Recently Dr. Ormandy entered a men's apparel shop on the campus of the University of Minnesota and asked to be shown a white vest. The clerk watched quietly while the maestro was trying on the waistcoat and then inquired: "You on the stage?"

"You might call it that," replied Ormandy. The fitting went on until the clerk, unable to suppress his curiosity blurted out, "What do you do—juggle?"

SMART IDEA

"Stop!" thundered the man in the barber's chair who was having his hair trimmed. "Why do you insist upon telling me these horrible blood-curdling stories?"

Swindle Trial At Pittsburgh, Ray Prosecutor

Former Local Boy, John D. Ray, Is Handling Case In Pittsburgh For Government

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 24.—James M. Clark, former director of public safety, may be called today to testify in behalf of the government in the alleged stock swindle of Melvin S. Patterson, W. Homer Porter and E. M. Garwood before Federal Judge F. P. Schoonmaker, government attorneys indicated.

The three men are charged with violations of the United States Securities and Exchange Act, allegedly defrauding a large number of persons with fake stock transactions. A fourth member, Robert B. Vaughan, co-defendant and alleged head of the stock selling activities, pleaded guilty to nine counts and "no defense" to two other counts. He will be sentenced at the conclusion of the trial, it was said.

Former New Castle Boy

Opening the commonwealth's case, Assistant United States District Attorney John D. Ray, explained to the jury that many prominent persons were asked to serve in executive capacities in the various organizations, but they were merely "dummy" officials. Clark was said to have been selected as president of Gold Shares, Inc., one of the five mining concerns involved, but, it was added, he never took any active part.

Other concerns named in the indictments were Tombstone Gold and Silver Mines, Inc., Silver Bell Consolidated Mining Company, Pennsylvania Operations, Inc., and Allegheny Operations, Inc.

During the day, a parade of witnesses appeared and testified about various transactions which included exchanging of valuable stocks for 'worthless' stocks in one of the five concerns.

Final Service At Central Christian

The subject of tonight's sermon by Rev. T. B. Shearer which will close a series of special meetings in the Central Christian church will be "Illumination Without Ostentation." The self-denial offering will be taken at this last gathering.

State To Conduct Rochester Clinic

Dr. C. C. Yount To Conduct Orthopedic Clinic Monday, November 30

Dr. C. C. Yount, of Pittsburgh, will conduct an Orthopedic Diagnostic Clinic in the Rochester General hospital, 500 Pinney street, Rochester, Pennsylvania, Monday, November 30, 1936, under the auspices of the Pennsylvannia Department of Health.

Crippled children under sixteen years of age of indigent parents are eligible for assistance and treatment. Crippled children from Beaver, Butler and Lawrence counties are to be examined by Dr. Yount.

Dr. Edith MacBride-Dexter, secretary of health, extends to all physicians in this area who are interested in crippled children's work an invitation to attend this clinic and to refer any or all of their indigent patients. Dr. MacBride-Dexter has also notified the county medical directors, county commissioners, directors of the poor board, local crippled children's societies, Red Cross chapters, and State and WPA nurses, asking them to refer to the clinic all crippled children who are not under treatment.

The names and addresses of crippled children may be referred to the following: State Clinic, 11½ East street, New Castle; State Clinic Memorial hospital, Brady street extension, Butler; State Clinic, Rochester General hospital, Rochester, Pa. All names should be referred before November 27, in order that the State nurses may obtain the necessary history of the patient.

This clinic is the twenty-fifth in a series of forty-eight that will be held in the coming year throughout the State, financed by Federal Social Security funds.

SUNK

Two old settlers, confirmed bachelors, sat in the backwoods. The question drifted from politics and finally got around to cooking.

"I got one o' them there cookery books once, but I never could do nothing with it," said one old settler.

"Too much fancy work in it, eh?" asked the other.

"You've said it!" was the reply. "Every one o' them recipes began the same way: 'Take a clean dish —' and that settled me."

Court Considers Strange Appeal

Prisoner Protests Serving Of Double Term For Escape And Subsequent Recapture

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 24.—The State Supreme Court today had under consideration the appeal of Elmer Sullivan, convicted robber, from serving a double sentence for an escape from Rockview prison at Bellefonte.

For the first time since its enactment 76 years ago, the statute providing for double sentence for a prisoner caught breaking jail was attacked as unconstitutional by defense counsel, but the justices apparently unimpressed, declined even to call upon the commonwealth's attorneys to defend the act.

Sullivan, serving a three to six year term after pleading guilty to a charge of breaking into a store in Erie county, was recaptured shortly after his escape from Rockview on December 28, 1931, and sentenced to serve double his original term.

Westwood Still Claims Innocence

Refusal Of New Trial Comes To Westwood As Shock Today

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 24.—'Squire James J. Westwood received without a change in expression the news that the state supreme court had refused to grant him a new trial, attaches at Western penitentiary revealed today.

Serving a life term for the slaying of his wife, Westwood was quoted by prison guards as taking the news calmly, with the words:

"I did not commit that crime and I don't know who did. I am an innocent man in prison and I only hope that some day the person or persons who did it will be apprehended and will confess."

Asked his immediate feelings about the failure of his appeal, Westwood said:

"It was somewhat of a shock. I expected a new trial."

SOFT SNAP

"There goes a fellow who chased around for years trying to land a political job."

"Well, what does he do now?"

"Nothing—he got the job."

Although the frigatebird, which inhabits the tropical seas, is said to be the swiftest flying bird, it is believed that the American canvas-back duck can fly 200 miles an hour.

State Highways Are Being Ashed

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Nov. 24.—Heavy blankets of snow and sleet covered most of Pennsylvania's highways today, causing slippery conditions, the Highways Department reported.

A force of 2,594 men and 784 trucks were busy cindering the dangerous areas, with snow prevailing in the north, northeast and central counties and sleet and ice covering most of the western counties, as well as Franklin and Bucks.

Temperatures ranged from 21 to 36 degrees and snow varied from one to five inches in depth, with the heaviest snow reported to the department from McKean county.

ALARM SOUNDED FROM SPECIAL BOX

At 1 o'clock this morning, a special fire alarm system at the Lawrence Laundry on South Mill street, which connects with a direct wire to Central fire station was accidentally tripped off. Box 54 was sounded but on arriving at the scene, firemen found it was a false alarm.

REPORTS ACCIDENT

Charles A. Landolf, 320 East Long avenue, reported to traffic police today that his automobile and street car No. 361, operated by Motorman Reed, figured in a collision Monday evening about 6:15 o'clock, on North Liberty street.

In attempting to avert hitting a parked car Landolf stopped near the tracks, resulting in a head-on collision. The automobile and street car were slightly damaged.

Earle Resumes Inspection Tour Of Institutions

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 24.—Gov. George H. Earle was to continue his inspection of state institutions in Philadelphia today after flying visits to the Western State penitentiary, the Pennsylvania Training School at Morganza, California State Teachers College and the Connellsville State Hospital.

He found all the institutions generally in "good shape" although he angrily threw away "dum dum" bullets he found in a rifle in the penitentiary. He said the food there was excellent but the boiler equipment was antiquated.

At Morganza he learned of plans to construct fire towers but found the institution in "very good shape." Except for an inadequate laundry, he was pleased with conditions at the Connellsville hospital.

BODY BURIED HERE MAY BE EXHUMED

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., Nov. 24—A man buried in New Castle as an "unknown" may be James (Hobby) McGinley, of this city. McGinley has been missing. Relatives plan to ask Lawrence County court for a permit to exhume the body.

The President promises shorter hours and Saturdays off. Except, of course, for presidents and people like that.

Several Motor Accidents Here

At 8:30 p. m. cars driven by Lewis Mack, 933 Harrison street and Dr. Ralph Markley, North Mercer St., were in a slight collision at East Washington street and Butler avenue. Mack claims his car was stopped and the other machine struck the rear end of his automobile.

Earl W. Hildebrand, 724 Court street, told police that at 2:30 a. m. today he was driving east on East Washington street and his car skidded into a pole, breaking it off and also knocking down a city owned sign post on Lutton street.

Two Highway Routes Opened

(Special To The News)

GROVE CITY, Nov. 24—Re-opening of two highways near here, after construction work is hailed with delight by local motorists forced to use inconvenient or dangerous detours.

Of chief importance is the opening of the Grove City-Mercer road to travel "at your own risk." It had previously been announced that work had been abandoned and the road would be closed all winter. Better weather enabled the contractor to finish, temporarily, a one-mile section so that the main highway can be used. The two detours, by way of Scrubgrass and Blacktown, have been the scene of numerous accidents.

Workmen finished repairs on the Butler Pike, from Blacktown to Slippery Rock, one of the most widely used roads in the county due to heavy hauling from coal mines along the route.

REVEALS SOME PROPOSED GOVERNMENT CHANGES

State Changes Are Considered

Outmoded Government Requirements Are Likely To Be Altered

DETAILED STUDY NOW BEING MADE

By FREDERICK N. POLANGIN
International News Service Staff Correspondent
(Copyright, 1936, by International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Nov. 24.—Pennsylvania's so-called ox-cart" government was being prepared today for a long journey down a legislative trail that leads to modernization, efficiency and lower taxes.

Deliberations during the recent meeting of the joint legislative government commission, whose task it was to study means of correcting and atuning to the times the commonwealths political structure, have already led to a tentative program to be introduced at the 1937 general assembly session.

Some Probable Changes

Although more detailed study of the problems involved will be made at the commission's next executive meeting December 14th, members of the body, according to vice-chairman Rep. Samuel A. Weiss, Allegheny Democrat and militant advocate of government reform, appear to favor thus far that:

1.—The state take over improvement of all highways regardless of whether the road travels through local sub-divisions or not.

2.—A referendum should be submitted to the people on consolidation of county relief agencies.

3.—The state should pay costs of maintaining all prisoners in cases where the commonwealth is a party.

4.—The state should bear the expense for maintenance of institutions.

5.—The constitution be amended to remove all constitutional officers, thereby permitting complete reorganization to eliminate duplication of duties and agencies.

6.—County solicitors be the attorneys for all county officers except the county controller.

7.—Some form of civil service be established. (Here the committee expressed divergent views as to how much a system could be best inaugurated and operated.)

8.—Assessments in all counties be centralized.

9.—All new homes being constructed for the next three years be tax exempt.

10.—The state further investigate means more equitably to tax repeal estate of utilities.

11.—The state further investigate possibility of centralized tax collections.

Weiss also told International News Service he will introduce a bill calling for making jury verdicts less than unanimous vote legal and has prepared another bill to amend the constitution to that effect in both civil and criminal cases.

"I believe that our committee is sincere," Weiss said, "and I expect at least 20 bills to come out of the recommendations of our committee that will save millions of dollars to the tax-payers of this commonwealth."

AROUND CITY HALL

City fathers intend to observe Thanksgiving Day by remaining away from their offices and waging an attack on turkey. They decided yesterday that it would be improbable that anyone would want to transact business on Turkey Day and upon motion of Councilman Joe Alexander, decided to hold a meeting Wednesday. All of the other city hall folk, excepting policemen, also will have a holiday.

Although it was announced in city hall recently that 15 per cent would be added to the assessment on corner properties, the move has not yet been definitely taken, according to councilmen. They have designated the city solicitor's office to inquire into the legality of such a move. Whether they or the assessor have this power will be decided by the solicitor.

Apprehension of several youths in a robbery recently apparently had no effect on some others, according to the chief of police, Ralph Criswell, who dispatched detectives yesterday to investigate and arrest persons who broke into a gasoline station and a drug store.

Mrs. Louise Isaacs Injured In Fall

According to information received by friends here, Mrs. Louise Isaacs, former wellknown nurse of New Castle is confined to bed in the Rancho Sanitarium in Culver City, Los Angeles, Cal. Mrs. Isaacs left New Castle some months ago and accepted the position of the superintendent of the Rancho Sanitarium.

In some manner she fell while in the basement of the sanitarium and injured her back. The letter did not specify the extent of the injuries. The Rancho Sanitarium is an institution especially for the care of nurses who contracted poliomylitis in the epidemic which was prevalent some time ago.

Former Pastor In New Castle Is Eagle Scout

Highest Honor Of Boy Scout Organization Conferred On Rev. Miller, Aged 70

Rev. J. H. Miller, 70, who was pastor of St. John's Lutheran church of New Castle from 1896 to 1918, has just received the Eagle Boy Scout award at Irwin, Pa. This is the highest honor that a Boy Scout may receive. Despite his age, Rev. Miller met all the requirements, including the most rigorous ones, such as life saving.

A Greensburg, Pa., paper has this to say, "The Irwin pastor is probably the only person to have received the rank of Eagle Scout at the age of 70.

"J. L. Maclay, Jeannette high school principal and chairman of the Court of Honor in Zone 2 of Westmoreland county, made the presentation with W. Wallace Hill, chief county scout executive, and Paul Euwer, Jeannette, chairman of Zone 2, being present.

"Rev. Miller earned that Merit Badge as he did all the others he took, but he had already proven that he knew how to save lives. In fact, while he was a student at Muhlenburg College, one of his classmates was saved by Rev. Miller's quick action and courage. At that time Rev. A. O. Ebert, until his death in 1934, the pastor of the Lutheran church at New Tripoli, Pa., near Allentown, was drowning while swimming with some friends in a canal. Rev. Miller went after him, pulled him from the water and revived him.

"In good health and vigorously engaged in the activities of his Irwin congregation, Rev. Miller has always had an especial interest in boys' work, as the members of his congregation will testify.

"When he was 65—five years ago—he began to work for scout advancement. To him, it was never too late to start something worthwhile. Through the Tenderfoot, Second Class and First Class ranks he passed, managing to creditably perform all the achievements and examinations which the Boy Scout Council of the county and nation had outlined for members of the organization. He kept on, advancing through the Star and Life ranks of Scoutdom, before becoming an Eagle Scout.

"Besides his great attention to scouting, Rev. Miller has many other interests. He goes out of his way to perform services for his church. For five years he was a trustee of Thiel College, Greenville; of the Lutheran Theological Seminary in Philadelphia since 1934, and of Bethseda's Orphans' Home, at Meadville since 1918.

"Also in his line of activities was membership in the committee of education in the Pittsburgh synod; presidency of the Greensburg conference and membership of the executive committee of the Pittsburgh synod for eight years. He is a member of the Sons of the American Revolution and an honorary member of the Grand Army of the Republic.

"A book entitled, 'Bible of Nature and Bible of Grace,' was one of his literary efforts."

In a recent experiment, it was found that the average weight of women's clothing was two and one-half pounds and of men's eight and one-half pounds.

Shift Date Of Shenango Play

Shenango Seniors To Present 'The Panther's Claw" On December 3

"The Panther's Claw," a play scheduled for this evening at 8 o'clock, in the Shenango township high school, has been postponed until Thursday evening, December 3, it was announced this morning.

Principal Johnston explained that inclement weather brought about the change. The initial dramatic presentation of the school year at the East New Castle institution will be presented by the Shenango senior class.

SHENANGO STUDENTS HOME FROM EBENSBURG

Alice Koski and Sylvia Halttunen, Shenango high school students, have returned from Ebensburg where they sang in the first all-state chorus.

Miss Margaretta Hess, music supervisor of Shenango school, reports that it was a very fine and successful trip. The music supervisors had a dinner at Ebensburg in honor of Olaf Christenson of Oberlin Conservatory of Music, guest conductor of the all-state chorus. The chorus presented him with a purse and the P. S. M. A. gave him an honorary life membership in the association.

Steel Prices Are Advanced

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 24.—The Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corporation, the nation's largest producer and largest subsidiary of U. S. Steel which recently granted its employes a 10 per cent wage increase, today announced increases in steel prices for first quarter delivery ranging from $2 to $4 a ton.

As in the past, other large companies were expected to follow suit. The increases had been expected in most quarters since the recent pay increases. The new schedule was summarized by the corporation as follows:

"The advance will be $2 per ton on rerolling semi-finished materials, including sheet bars; $3 per ton on carbon bars, shapes and plates, and $4 per ton on strip, tin mill black plate and sheets with the exception of vitrenamel which advances $3 per ton.

"The price on standard rails over 60 pounds per lineal yard is changed from $36.375 to $39 per gross ton. The advance on other products are in the same relative ratio, and, as stated in the announcement, will be effective on all sales of their products for shipment during the first quarter year 1937."

The new prices become effective Dec. 1, giving purchasers a week to make contracts at the old prices.

They didn't know what gasoline it was...

but the "mystery gas" was Blue Sunoco and 87% of the motorists who tried it proved that it gives faster starting than 54 well-known gasolines

HOW THE "MYSTERY GAS" TESTS WERE MADE

The Ross Federal Research Corporation asked at random approximately one hundred motorists, in 14 widely separated cities, to contribute their services in testing a "mystery gasoline" in their own cars. This gasoline was regular Blue Sunoco, without the blue color. The emptied tank of each car was filled with ten gallons of this colorless Blue Sunoco and, later, the frank and uninfluenced opinions of each motorist were obtained by Ross Federal investigators. Of course, some motorists were found to be regular Blue Sunoco users. They have been omitted from all compilations.

That this "mystery gasoline" was regular Blue Sunoco was certified by the testing laboratories of E. W. Saybolt & Co., a recognized gasoline authority, whose men sealed the gasoline drums at the refinery and turned them over to Ross Federal for shipment to their representatives in the 14 cities.

Here are no empty claims about Blue Sunoco's quick starting; here are facts, truthful, above question, definite proof of this motor fuel's superiority in starting, power and performance, as proved by more than twelve hundred motorists, driving their own cars in states from Massachusetts to Virginia and on west!

WHO MADE THESE TESTS?

Motorists like you and your neighbors, selected at random by Ross Federal Research Corp.:—workmen, clerks, doctors, housewives, merchants and salesmen—all contributed their services for these tests.

BLUE SUNOCO'S QUICK STARTING PROVED!

These motorists—more than twelve hundred of them, driving practically every make of car,—compared Blue Sunoco against fifty-four other gasolines, including eleven premium-priced fuels, and eighty-seven out of every hundred motorists proved to their own satisfaction that Blue Sunoco started quicker than the gasoline they had been using!

How's that for proof? How's that for absolute evidence that this winter the most dependable quick starting you can buy is at the nearest Blue Sunoco pump? Get your test tankful today—but don't dilute Blue Sunoco with a weaker gasoline and expect Blue Sunoco results. With nothing but Blue Sunoco in your tank, you will start easily and surely, all winter long!

Hope For World Peace Will Come From Conference

Twenty-One American Republics Will Send Representatives To Buenos Aires

Primarily Conference Will Wield Strong Bond, President Roosevelt Attending

By ROBERT G. NIXON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—The hope for world peace, and with it, prosperity, is the moving force that will guide the 21 American republics in their deliberations at the inter-American conference for the maintenance of peace.

It is the impelling urge that sends President Roosevelt on the 5,000 mile trek to Buenos Aires at a time when, with weighty national problems to be laid before a new congress, only the most urgent external subject could command his attention.

Wield Common Bond

Primarily, the conference is intended to wield a common bond of action between the United States and Latin-America in banishing future wars from the western hemisphere.

In summoning the American Democracies to the conference last January, President Roosevelt suggested that the time had come for them "to consider their joint responsibility and their common need" in preventing future conflicts, in forwarding "the cause of permanent peace on this western continent," and "the creation by common accord of new instruments of peace."

But, with the alarming drift toward war still unhalted in Europe, Mr. Roosevelt cherishes the hope that the example set at the conference by the American republics may have a decided influence in stamping out the sparks of war abroad.

This broader concept was the factor that clinched the president's decision to go to Buenos Aires and make the keynote speech at the opening session December 1.

Roosevelt On Hand

With the enormous international prestige gained by his landslide re-election, the president's peace message in the Argentine capital is bound to be listened to with keen attention in Europe.

Astutely realizing this, Mr. Roosevelt is not expected to confine the import of his remarks to America alone.

Secretary of State Cordell Hull, who heads the American delegation, summed up the conference objectives as two-fold:

"The American republics . . . are animated by one common purpose: to do everything in their power to banish war from the two continents of the western hemisphere, and, by their example and influence, they are seeking to promote peace throughout the world in every practicable way."

Five Big Points

And how is it proposed that the continuance of peace shall be guaranteed in the western hemisphere?

These are the principal instruments over which the envoys are expected to ponder:

1. Extension of the United States' neutrality act to all the American republicans.
2. The setting up of a permanent court to stop war before it begins by conciliating differences between American nations.
3. Limiting armaments to the needs only of national security and protection against aggression.
4. Expansion of the Monroe Doctrine to include the Latin-American republics in a multi-lateral agreement against foreign aggression.
5. Expansion of inter-American trade through further application of reciprocal trade agreements.

Miner Attributes Health To Walks

Joseph Kettering, 75, Hikes Five Miles Every Day, And Sometimes 28

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 24.—If you want to live long and have good health try the prescription of Joseph Kettering, 75 year old miner—a long walk every day.

Paternally known to his neighbors in Braddock as "Uncle Joe" he is found every day rain or shine taking his daily jaunt. The distance according to Joe is five miles and "it takes about an hour for the round trip if I don't have to stop a lot of places."

About once a week Kettering changes his route and hikes twenty eight miles into downtown Pittsburgh. Two years ago he walked to Allegheny County home to see his older brother, Martin, 77.

"That trip took me 14 hours but I just puttered along and time overtook me," he said.

Martin Kettering, who is visiting his brother, reminisced a bit. He said:

"Joe was only sick once and that was when he got too much mine gas five years ago. Then, he added proudly, "Joe used to be the best miner around here. I never saw one to beat him."

"If a fellow sits down and doesn't move around, he gets stiff and can't move when he wants to," Joe said. "That's why I keep moving and keep healthy."

Students Making Surveys Of Cities

Westminster Seniors Are Preparing Economic Theses Under Prof. McKee

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Nov. 24.—Seventeen seniors of Westminster College are perparing economic theses under the supervision of Professor C. W. McKee, department of business administration, in topics ranging from city surveys to economic policies of banks and corporations.

Albert Smith and George Herchenroether, Pittsburgh seniors, are making a survey of the city of Sharon; James Ramsey, Oil City, is making a study of Greenville; Ernest McMullen, New Castle, is completing a survey of that city; and John Budd, Clarion, is making an economic study of Jamestown.

The city surveys will indicate essential facts concerning transportation, schools, water supply, chief products, population statistics, and many other details of economic interest. Corporation investigations will look into credit and advertising policies of companies, personnel, method of capitalization, and business policies.

An attempt is made to give the seniors problems that will benefit the city or corporation investigated and also give the student training in the technique of business management.

Nonpareil Will Shoot Tonight

Members of the Nonpareil Rifle club will have a match practice shoot tonight at the Nonpareil range at 7:30 o'clock, it was announced by Karl Rohrer today.

The Nonpareil team lost to Niles last week at Niles in a Penn-Ohio league match 947 to 891. High man for the match was Baskett with 192.

The results:

Niles—Baskett 192, Potter 190, Welsh 189, Johns 189, Corbett 187—total 947.

Nonpareil—Eckles 187, Davis 185, Adams 181, Grodecour 180, Barber 178—total 891.

Other scores—Curtis 178, Rohrer 177, Douglas 173, Jinks 172, Gardner 164, Chambers 157, Morton 183 and Reed 169.

Taffetas are tops for early fall evening dresses, but taffetas have new and interesting features. There is one with a ribbed surface which gives even more stiffness to the princess silhouette. Satin-striped taffetas are looked upon with fondness by juniors.

Flakier pie crust digestible as bread with new TRIPLE-CREAMED shortening

HERE'S a perfect finish for a glorious Thanksgiving Dinner—Cross-Crust Mince Pie with a crust so tender and flaky, so beautifully browned, so delicate in flavor that your guests will forget all the good things they've already eaten and devour it to the last delicious crumb.

Thanksgiving Day or any day, you'll have doubly delicious pastry when you make it with Spry, the new, purer ALL-vegetable shortening that's triple-creamed. Spry is whiter, smooth as satin. Cuts into the flour so easily your dough requires just half the handling.

Cake-bakers marvel!

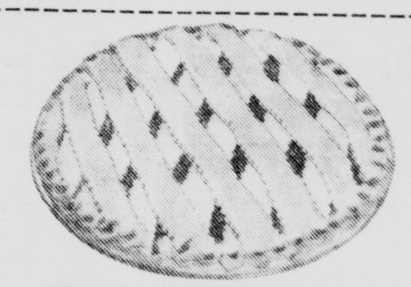
Spry gives lighter, more delicate cakes in half the mixing time. Perhaps you doubt this, think there's only one shortening to use for cakes. Countless women thought so, too, until they tried Spry. Now they're getting better cakes for less work and less money—with Spry!

Spry is marvelous for frying, too. Doesn't smoke. Gives crisper, tastier foods that are as digestible as if baked or boiled. Try Spry.

In 1-lb. and 3-lb. cans

The new, purer ALL-vegetable shortening — TRIPLE-CREAMED



CROSS-CRUST MINCE PIE

Everyone raves about this tender, golden Spry pastry

2½ cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon salt
¾ cup Spry
5 tablespoons cold milk (about)
Homemade or packaged mincemeat

Sift flour and salt together. Add ½ of Spry and cut in until mixture is as fine as corn meal (takes only a jiffy with triple-creamed Spry). Add remaining Spry and continue cutting until particles are size of a navy bean.

Sprinkle milk, 1 tablespoon at a time, over mixture. (Water may be used instead of milk, if desired.) With a fork, work lightly together until a dough is formed.

Roll ½ of dough thin and line a 9-inch pie plate. Fill pie shell with mincemeat (1 quart is ideal). Roll remaining dough to about ⅛-inch thickness, cut into strips ¾-inch wide and lay 5 or 6 across mincemeat, then lay another set of strips across diagonally. Trim strips even with rim and press edges down. Bake in hot oven (425° F.) 30 to 40 minutes.

Delay In Work On Armory May Cause Damage

Building Is Not Under Roof And Is Exposed To Elements

HOPE TO SECURE FUNDS TO RESUME

Exposed to the elements the partially constructed Joseph V. Cunningham Armory in Cascade Park seem to be in a fair way to be harmed unless something is done to protect it. The stone work, which is about 80 per cent done on the administration unit, is open to the weather as is the tile work inside.

The boiler for the armory is set up in the basement of the administration unit, but it also is unprotected from the weather. Directly abovie it are the steel girders which will hold the floor, but these are open and the roof is not yet on the unit. Rain and snow drop straight through to the new boiler which is entirely unprotected.

When the original project was secured by the WPA, it was assumed that most of the armory would be built by the money allocated, about $50,000. However, this was in error, and before the roof of the administration unit could be put on the money was exhausted and a new project was asked for.

This new project calls for the completion of the administration unit and the stables, the amount of money being allocated being $68,000. This project has cleared the local WPA offices and the Harrisburg offices, but is being held up in Washington.

No work has been done on the armory project for many weeks and with winter weather setting in it appears doubtful that much can be done. It might be possible to complete the walls of the administration unit and roof it, thus protecting the open stone work and the boiler.

Fall Yesterday Proves Fatal To Mrs. R. J. Robison

Matilda Avenue Resident Falls Down Cellar Steps, Dies In Hospital

A fall down the cellar steps of her niece's home resulted in the death of Mrs. Agnes H. Davies Robison, aged 66 years, wife of Robert J. Robison, of Matilda avenue, in the Jameson Memorial hospital this morning at 4:30 o'clock.

The accident occurred 12 hours previous in the home of Mrs. Walter A. Snyder, on Matilda avenue, adjoining the Robison home. Mrs. Robison was found at the bottom of the cellar stairs, unconscious, and was removed immediately to the hospital. There had been no witness to the accident. Mrs. Snyder was out at the time and Mrs. Robison had been caring for her young children. It is believed that death was due to a concussion of the brain.

Mrs. Robison was born in New Castle, daughter of James and Matilda Fulkerson Davies, an old family, on the first of August, 1870. She was a member of the Wesley M. E. church.

Surviving are her husband, one daughter, Mrs. Margaret Fowler, of New Castle; one grandson, Richard John Fowler; her niece and one nephew, Archie L. Davies, of New Castle.

The body has been removed to the Joseph B. Leyde mortuary, Highland at Winter, where it will remain until noon on Wednesday. At that time it will be taken to the residence on Matilda avenue, where services will be conducted Friday at two p. m. Interment will be made in Greenwood cemetery.

How to Relieve Piles or Rectal Soreness

If you are annoyed with piles or rectal soreness, do not neglect the same or run the risk of an operation. Any itching, soreness or painful passage of stool is nature's warning and treatment should be secured at once. For this purpose get from your druggist a little Ice-Mint and apply once or twice daily. This cooling and soothing preparation quickly relieves the itching and soreness, stops pain and aids in healing the effected parts. Try it. Ice-Mint is highly recommended and is easy and pleasant to use. It seems the height of folly for anyone to risk an operation when a simple remedy that is so easy to use may be had at such small cost.

Security Blanks Are Distributed

Letter Carriers Distribute Forms For Reports By Individuals

New Castle's postmen covered their routes as usual today—but they carried unusual loads of mail.

To every store, office, factory, shop, mine, mill and all other business places, large and small, the letter carriers delivered the Social Security board forms upon which workers will make application for the assignment of a number to the social security accounts which will be established for them.

The mail was quite unusual because it marks the first mail being carried direct to the workers of the nation as part of the preliminary steps to the inauguration of the provisions of the government's new social security act. Congress enacted it as law last year.

With every blank went a pamphlet, "Security in Your Old Age", which described the social security operations in detail. It explained to workers the meaning of the act to their future.

Postmaster Richard A. Steen reported that "all the forms went out on schedule." He said his staff had organized the distribution task in advance and handled the work with dispatch.

New Castle carriers delivered the forms to all employers they serve and the employers in turn are to pass them on to their employes.

The forms are to be filled out—they carry 16 questions—and returned to the post office by December 5, Postmaster Steen said.

About two weeks ago a form for employers was distributed by the carriers. They were returnable last Saturday.

Plan To Extend Civil Service

Program Will Be Introduced Into Coming Session Of State Legislature

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Nov. 24.—A civil service program, long a political bugaboo in Pennsylvania, will be introduced in the 1937 legislative session, it was learned today.

Rep. Samuel A. Weiss, Allegheny Democrat, disclosed today the legislative reference bureau is drafting a series of bills calling for extension of civil service into all political subdivisions in the state where such a system at present does not exist.

This, he said, will include third class cities, first class townships, boroughs with populations over 2,500 and all other types of townships—"if feasible"—and second class cities.

The program, Weiss said, will call for local examining boards to administer the system as "another step to keep politics in its place."

Two Die From Poisoned Liquor

Another Critically Ill In Hospital At Wooster From Poisoned Drink

(International News Service)

WOOSTER, O., Nov. 24—Their liquor supply ran low so Addison Emick, 78; Floyd Christopher, 40 and Adelbert McClelland 52, of nearby Holmesville, replenished it by mixing wine with an anti-freeze solution for auto radiators.

The result was a drink so potent that Emick and Christopher were dead today and McClelland, who lived to tell the story of the drinking party was in a critical condition but with a chance for recovery.

McClelland told the coroner his companions died within 15 minutes of each other.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—Celebrating Pennsylvania's first vote for a Democratic presidential candidate since 1856, the Pennsylvania Democratic club will stage a victory dinner here on Dec. 3. The 650,000 majority in the state for President Roosevelt marked the first time in 80 years that Pennsylvania has been in the Democratic column for a presidential candidate, and national leaders of the Democratic party are joining with state leaders in this victory dinner.

Guests of honor will include cabinet officers, Senator Joseph F. Guffey, Gov. George H. Earle, David L. Lawrence, chairman state committee and the 27 Democratic congressmen from Pennsylvania, as well as various state officials.

Missing Women And Girls Are Found

(International News Service)

BOSTON, Nov. 24.—Of three hundred and forty-five women and girls listed as missing at police headquarters earlier this year, all but five have either returned to their homes or notified relatives of their whereabouts, it was announced by the Bureau of Missing Persons. Most of the missing persons communicated with their families after reading of the investigation resulting from the alleged murder of Mrs. Grayce Asquith, Weymouth widow.

Selassie's Ex-Aide Hopes For Reforms

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH—Fearful lest it be thought a "traitorous utterance", Dr. Thomas A. Lambie, former head of the Ethiopian Red Cross and one-time advisor to Haile Selassie, dethroned emperor, nevertheless stated here that Ethiopia will see "many needed reforms" under Italian rule.

Just returned from Europe, Dr. Lambie said his "prediction" was prompted by "the hope that such will be the case".

Dr. Lambie said he was certain Italy would eventually subdue all the native tribes of Ethiopia, now causing Il Duce's legions so much trouble.

"There isn't a native chief left with the strength of character to make a real resistance," he explained.

Lions Will Sponsor Holiday Party For Local Blind Folks

New Castle's Lions club will sponsor its annual Christmas dinner party for blind residents of the city and county sometime during the week preceding Christmas week. The club for years has been conducting the parties to help cheer the sightless during the holiday season.

A date for the party will be announced later by Roy F. Conway, chairman of the blind work committee, which will be in charge of the affair.

Gifts for the blind guests this year will be furnished by the ladies of the Lions.

When the club met for its regular meeting today, business was up for discussion. President Numa F. Vidal, Jr., presided. Committee chairman made reports.

The club's bowling committee headed by Earl Williams announced that its bowling activities will get under way about a week from today.

Embassy Staff Can't Get Away

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24—Inability to obtain transportation for the 200-mile dash to the Mediterranean will delay evacuation of the American staff from the Madrid embassy at least another day, the state department was informed today.

Eric C. Wendelin, in charge of the embassy, cabled the state department that because of lack of automobile transport he would be unable to leave the besieged capital until Thursday "at the earliest." The time for the departure previously had been set at Wednesday.

Approximately 50,000,000 packs of playing cards are manufactured annually.

Fifteen To Play Final Grid Game On Thanksgiving

New Castle High "Red Hurricane" Will Be Riddled By Graduation And Semester

Outlook For Next Year Is Bright, Bridenbaugh Has Fine Reserve Material

Faculty Manager of Athletics Ralph H. Gardner took his typewriter in hand today to dish out a few farewells to the members of the New Castle high "Red Hurricane" football team who will be missing next year.

There are 16 young men who will be ending their scholastic careers on Thanksgiving Day against Midland high. This is going to leave some terribly big holes to fill in the 1937 season.

In addition to the boys mentioned below in thumbnail sketches, the following will also be through on Thursday: Lester Jenkins, Jack Duffy, Leslie Matis, Joe Mundziak, Tom McCormick and Stan Kominic.

Dal Mumford, as quarterback, has played as a regular for three full years and proved a very durable player. During all this time, he escaped with the most minor injuries until the Warren game of this year. In addition to directing the play, to him was assigned the unspectacular, very important and quite difficult task of handling the blocking half position, probably the most important backfield position in the Pitt system. In addition to this, he has been a consistently fine punter and a good defensive back against forward passes. During the current year his punting was particularly brilliant against Washington at Washington and against Sharon at Sharon. In the Sharon game his punting was almost uncanny in its accuracy and in the Washington game his punting put Washington continuously in the hole. New Castle fans will recall with pleasure and satisfaction his many splendid performances at Taggart stadium.

Paul Small, at guard, unquestionably ranks with the best guards ever produced at New Castle. Small is probably one of the fastest, if not the fastest, boy on the team. He showed his versatility when called upon to substitute for Mumford in the backfield during the latter's incapacitation. In addition to being a capable blocker he showed great ability as a ball carrier and as a receiver of forward passes. A fast running guard is a vital necessity in the Warner system of football and it is an open secret that Coach Bridenbaugh was planning on converting Small into a backfield man for the current season had he been able to find a capable replacement for him at the running guard position.

Harvey Jokinen, handicapped both last year and this year by a bothersome hip injury, was reaching his peak during the current season when injuries again forced his retirement from the lineup. Defensively, Jokinen has developed into an outstanding player.

George Varga, at center, as many fans will recall, stepped into Adamo's shoes during the last two games of the 1935 season and has most capably filled this important position.

Leroy Cox, at halfback, and a regular last season, has had a most unfortunate season, being almost continuously out of the lineup due to hip and leg injuries. Cox, one of the most popular boys on the squad, will be sadly missed next year.

Domenick Covelli, the star guard of last year's basketball team, has been handicapped most of the present season by a troublesome shoulder injury, and has been in uniform and has played in many games when the average boy would not even have considered putting a uniform on. When one considers his slight physique, being but a midget as football players go, the fighting heart of this young Italian lad can be fully appreciated. His fighting heart is at least a part explanation of some of the almost miraculous comebacks of last year's basketball team.

Louie Leonard, the tackle, possessed of great physical qualifications, is just now beginning to acquire the experience and polish of a great tackle.

Charles Mort, at halfback, was probably the most consistent line gainer on the team, running with tremendous power, and was the most difficult boy in the backfield to bring down. The utter abandon and reckless courage of this young man will long be remembered by Taggart stadium fans.

Dudy Perrett, when laid low in the Erie East game, also has played his final game for New Castle high. Dudy, like Leonard and Jokinen, was just reaching his peak when injuries terminated his high school football career.

Domenick DeCaprio, whose career was ended by the 20-year age rule, with the Martins Ferry game, was temporarily handicapped in the late season by a serious neck injury and unquestionably ranks among New Castle high's great backs.

James Braddock started training for championship fight with Joe Louis at Atlantic City, Feb. 22, after bout was approved by New Jersey State Boxing Commission.

Withdrawal of Max Schmeling from American competition was threatened in Germany as result of Braddock-Louis fight.

Fordham, Pitt, Alabama Eyeing Rose Bowl Bid

Fordham Meets New York U. And Pitt And Tech Will Clash On Thursday

By LAWTON CARVER
International News Service Sports Writer.

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—Fordham-New York university here, Alabama-Vanderbilt at Birmingham, Pitt-Carnegie Tech at Pittsburgh and Washington-Washington State at Seattle will be headline attractions Thursday when Thanksgiving Day battles bring the football season to within a dozen or so games to the close.

Fordham, Alabama and Pitt will be playing with hopes of still snaring that bid to represent the east in the Rose Bowl, in case Louisiana State should slip against Tulane on Saturday. Washington and Washington State will be fighting it out two ways for the western nomination.

Seek Bowl Bid.

The possibility of an unprecedented all-western bowl attraction was foreseen, inasmuch as Washington has announced that, if it wins from State, it will ask to meet unbeaten and untied Santa Clara, but hopes on this side of the Rockies were not entirely dimmed.

Fordham, Alabama and Pitt will be fighting their final comeback battles Thursday and scheming for the best, although it is barely possible that none of them will be able to come back far enough to offset Louisiana's great record, in the event a nomination is made from the south or east.

By scoring a win in that one remaining game with Tulane, the Bayou Tigers virtually would nominate themselves. Stories are being bandied about freely in connection with Louisiana's great line and backfield, and since that tie with Texas in their second game, they have stood up under all the praise.

Pitt Defeated.

In contrast, Fordham's line, or so-called seven blocks of granite, has wilted into ties with Pitt and Georgia, and Pitt hasn't done even that well, besides the deadlock, blowing one to Duquesne.

Alabama has shown improvement since deadlocking with Tennessee, but even in the south, seldom is rated even with Louisiana.

However, a graduate manager's hopes of snaring that Rose Bowl invitation die a lingering death, and the other three contenders will not consider this muddle over until Louisiana State has finished with Tulane or vice versa and the thing finally has been definitely settled.

At Havana Bowl.

And when the Rose Bowl is filled it will add up into at least two. The Havana bowl obtained its attraction yesterday when Villanova agreed to play Auburn, which previously had accepted.

All in all, remaining games are important with several bowls hunting theirs.

Other outstanding games on the Thanksgiving slate include Colgate and Brown, Temple and Bucknell, Penn and Cornell, North Carolina State and Duke, Tennessee and Kentucky, Arkansas and Tulsa, and North Carolina and Virginia.

DUKES WOULD LIKE TO PLAY ON COAST

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 24.—Coach "Little Clipper" Smith let it be known today that Duquesne university was not averse to accepting a bid to play a post-season game in one of the many "bowls."

"Of course we have to get a bid first," he said. "And then it depends on the place and the guarantee and the school officials. But we'll consider all offers.

Titans Prepare For Coming Floor Season

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Nov. 24.—When the Westminster Titans take the floor against Salem in their first basketball game December 10, they will be sporting a new offense and a new defense, as the Titans begin their first season under Coach George W. Roark, who replaced John D. Lawther, Westminster basketball mentor, who moved on to Penn State this year.

Fans who were acquainted with Lawther's slow-moving, but effective offense, will probably see a fast-breaking type of play, which Roark developed at New Brighton.

Defensively the Roarkmen will use a zone defense, but quite different from Lawther's. Depending upon the type of offense used by their opponents, the Titans will play two men up, or three men up on the front line.

With only three lettermen on the squad, Roark is faced with the task of moulding a winning combination from three experienced floormen, former intramural stars, and green first year men. John Krivosh, guard, may be moved to center on offense and to guard on defense. Andy Demo, Johnstown, and Ken Grubb, Youngstown, are trying to clinch the forward positions in which they played last year.

From last year's squad are Gilliland, New Wilmington; Meyer, Youngstown; and M. Pawk, Butler. The intramural league has contributed three of its best players in Dick Thompson, Mahoningtown; Henry Throop, Bessemer; and Earl Hite, Roaring Springs. From the freshman class come Mel Miller, New Brighton; Jack Cochran, East Liverpool, O.; and Bob Westerman, Weehawken, N. J., as likely varsity material.

Marchoni To Meet Wallick

Wrestling Show Is Scheduled For Arena Garden Monday

MORRIE SUBER TO OPPOSE HAP HOUSER

Boxing having been staged last night, the next athletic attraction at the Arena garden will be a wrestling show, four matches having been carded by Peter Askounes for next Monday night.

Leo Wallick and Tony Machoni will meet in the main bout and the semi-final will find Joe Parelli, who claims to have been middleweight champion of Italy, opposed to Eddie Malone.

Babe Caddock and Angelo Martin will meet in another bout and the opening setto will find Morrie Suber of New Castle grappling with Hap Houser.

Bears-Colalucas Battle This Week

Proceeds Will Go To Red Cross; Independent Title At Stake

After several weeks of dickering, the Wabash Bears and Colalucas of the South Side have decided to meet on the gridiron to decide the independent championship of New Castle.

According to officials of the two clubs, the game will be played either at Taggart stadium or Centennial field. If Taggart stadium can be secured, the contest will be played on Saturday afternoon. If this plan fails, the game will be shifted to Centennial field, Sunday afternoon.

Thee proceeds will be turned over to the Red Cross. Because of the interest in the two elevens, an unusually large crowd is expected to be on hand. The two teams are made up of former New Castle high stars. The Bears represent Mahoningtown and the Colalucas are South Siders.

The two teams are requested to present a list of players not later than Wednesday. The Bears already have handed in their list which will be published in tomorrow's News. The Colalucas have won four and lost one, while the Bears have won five and have yet to taste the pill of defeat. Only two ties are chalked against them.

Wabash Bears Tie Youngstown Champs

Mahoningtown Representatives Make Great Goal Line Stand In Fast Game

Today the Wabash Bears rank as one of the outstanding Independent football teams in the district as a result of holding the strong Youngstown champs, to a 0-0 scoreless tie. The contest was played on the E. and A. field Sunday afternoon.

The Bears pushed the ball down to the visitor's four yard line but could not carry the over over. The Ohioians came right back and carried the pigskin to the 1 yard stripe. Here the Mahoningtowners make a great goal line stand, checking the Youngstown team's attack. The contest was one of the most exciting of the season.

Coaches Blackie Adamo and Tippy Richards used Rocco Tommelleo and Al Russo at ends, Ruffles Johns and Monk Rainey at tackles, Joe Scarazzo and Ship Russo at guards, John Piccutta at center, T. Tommelleo at quarterback, Walt Blisco, Blazzo and Paul Elder at halfback and Sam Copple, at fullback.

To date the Bears have played seven games, winning 5 and tieing 2. Saturday afternoon, at Taggart stadium or Centennial field, the Wabash Bears and Colalucas will play for the Independent championship of New Castle.

Ray Gray Wins From Hightower

Mickie Rubin And Tony Olarchek Stage Whirlwind Scrap

W. & J. BOXER DEFEATS HERRON

The several hundred fans who assembled in the Arena Gardens, Neshannock avenue, Monday evening, witnessed one of the most exciting boxing shows staged here in years. Everyone of the eight three round amateur bouts teemed with action from start to finish.

In the feature attraction, Ray Gray, hard hitting South Sider, outslugged Jim Hightower, of Springdale, in the 160 pound class. In the opening round, Gray connected with a barrage of lefts that earned him the round. The next stanza saw both gladiators score with hefty wallops. Gray came through in the latter part of the final round with a series of well timed lefts that won him a well merited decision. Hightower, a vicious colored lad, proved dangerous throughout with his hard right. The victory marked the third one for Gray since the opening of the fall amateur shows here.

The Arena Gardens echoed and re-echoed as Mickey Ruben, man of swing and shift, and Tony Olarchek, of Springdale, staged just about as exciting a fight as has ever been seen here, in the 175 pound class. Ruben opened up with his usual left swing. Olarchek, a willing mixer, countered with a number of hard wallops throughout the fight. Near the end of the bout, both pugilists were very tired. Olarchek was awarded the nod.

Bob McClure, of W. & J. college, Washington, Pa., took time out from his classroom to outclass Jack Herron, of Springdale, in the 145 pound class, in the sixth setto. Gloves flew throughout the three round fight. Herron barely finished. It was the first time McClure fought outside of college rings.

Terminates Bout

The fifth battle brought together Fritz Waldek, of Springdale, a Golden Glove champ, one of the smoothest combatants on the card, and Kid Roberts, of Kittanning, a pair of 155 pounders. Waldek, an exceptional clever mitt pusher, scored repeatedly. In the final stanza, Roberts, in rushing Waldek, butted him, resulting in a deep cut over Roberts' right eye, cutting his own head. Referee Tom MacMahon halted the bout, awarding Waldek a technical knockout. Waldek also sustained a deep cut on top of the left side of the head.

Two of the cleverest boxers on the card were Joe Yotz, also of Springdale, and Johnny Darr, a rugged Beaver Falls puncher, in the fourth fracas. Throughout the bout the 135 pounders let loose an unusual amount of lefts and rights which resulted in another peach of a battle. Darr was awarded the decision.

Dodey Augostine Wins

Dodey Augostine, another South Sider, made his debut as an amateur by winning a hard fought decision over Chuck Clowes, of Springdale, in the 135 pound class. Augostine, much shorter than his opponent, gave an excellent display of himself. He uncorked a barrage of lefts and rights throughout. The fight won the applause of the excited spectators.

In the second tussle, Frank Moran, of New Castle, lost the decision to Herman Armitage, of Springdale, a pair of 126 pounders.

The show opened with Nickie Re-

Midland To Bring Fighting Eleven

Midland High School football team will come here Thursday to "shoot the works" against the famed New Castle High "Red Hurricane" grid machine at Taggart Stadium. The kickoff at 2:15 p. m. should find a big holiday crowd in the stands.

The New Castle High team is beset by injuries and loss of players through age until only a skeleton of the team that started the season is left for the final game.

DeCaprio, Jokinen and Perrett will not even be in uniform Thursday. Jokinen and Perrett are on the injured list, with DeCaprio of course being out a few weeks ago by age.

Two Big Boys

Midland High will bring two big boys to New Castle Chuck McNeil the rip-snorting fullback with his 190 pounds and Don Ebeston the huge tackle who goes 195. Both are veterans and the principal reasons why the Midlanders defeated Ellwood City 20 to 0 and held Ambridge to a 13 to 7 score.

The valley team is one of "destiny." They will come here bent on giving everything they have to the cause of trying to upset a New Castle High football team coached by a former valley boy Phil Bridenbaugh. What Midland lacks in experience they make up for in fight.

"Bridy" will give the boys the final hard workout of the year today and Wednesday will be polishing up day with only a light signal drill on the program.

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Nov. 24.—Minnesota and Louisiana State, with the Golden Gophers holding a slight edge, are out in front in the race for the 1936 national football championship, according to the Azzi Ratem system today.

With the close of Minnesota's season Saturday the Gophers emerged with a fraction of a point lead over Louisiana State Tigers. Louisiana State's rating however, will rise if they manage to subdue the Tulane green wave next Saturday.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Last night's fistic attraction at the Arena garden was one of the best cards that has been staged in this city for some time. All of the boys, everyone a bonafide amateur, played their roles. Mickie Rubin, the man of swing and shift, and Tony Olarchek captured the show. Both were tired when the bell sounded.

Jimmie Braddock has arrived in New York after a trip to Hot Springs and said that should the match with Joe Louis go through he will kayo Louis.

Yale lettermen unanimously elected Clinton Edward Frank of Evanston, O., brilliant back, as the 1937 football captain. He succeeds Larry Kelly.

Victor Hanson, head football coach at Syracuse U., and a former great athlete for the Orange, has resigned.

Pitt Hopes To Throttle Tech

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 24.—Coach Jock Sutherland sent his Pitt Panthers through their last tough scrimmage of the year today, with the usual tune-up slated for tomorrow for the annual windup game with Carnegie Tech here on Turkey Day.

The Panthers are all in top physical form but Sutherland is fearful of a let-down due to the long layoff. No lineup changes are contemplated.

Meanwhile Tech primed for the struggle with a series of long drills with yesterday's workout lasting until darkness. Much improved over last year, the Tartans are confident they can stage another surprise party and have high hopes of spilling the Pitt lads.

Leroy Haynes Beats Simms In Pittsburgh Ring

Cleveland Boy Is Game, Negro Heavy Unable To Put Over Kayo Wallop

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 24.—Leroy Haynes failed to turn his famed sleep-producer loose here last night when he took on game Eddie Simms, of Cleveland, but he held the ten-round decision today and that's all that matters.

Simms was floored no less than three times in the first, fifth and eighth rounds. He recuperated rapidly though and Haynes, Philadelphia's outstanding heavyweight, was unable to supply the coup-de-grace.

At times, Simms made a good showing against his more experienced ring-mate and there were even some fans who thought his showing was good enough to cop the decision. The packed galleries booed loud and long when it went to Haynes.

Quarter At Center In Georgia Win

(International News Service)

ATHENS, Ga., Nov. 24.—The most amazing feature of Georgia's recent victory over Tulane was that a quarterback played center.

Coach Harry J. Mehre took only three centers to New Orleans. Two had been in during the quarter, and were on the bench. The third got hurt. The first two could not go back in.

Little time was left to play in the quarter. Georgia was on defense and it did not seem likely the Bulldogs would get on offense.

Wallace Miller, reserve signal caller, whose weight is little more than 160, suggested that he be allowed to try. And Mehre let him go. There was nothing else to do.

On the next play Georgia intercepted a pass, and Miller, who had never played center in his life, had to snap the ball. He did it perfectly on two plays before the quarter ended and Quinton Lumpkin, returned to the lineup.

RAY GRAY WINS FROM HIGHTOWER

tort, of Ellwood City, and Elmer Cortez, of Ellport, battling in the 124 pound class. Cortez won the decision.

As was said before, the show was without a doubt one of the finest presented here in the past few years. Those who missed the event really missed something. Eddie Fritz was the matchmaker. Carl Genock handled the announcer's role. Former middleweight champ George Chip and Tommy Jones acted in the capacity of judges; Elmer Williams was timer. The state boxing commission was represented by Alderman B. J. Biondi.

Among leading nations there remain but a trio of true democracies—the United States, Great Brita' and France. In this case three certainly is not a crowd.

Yale's Frank Gaining Against Harvard

Clint Frank, Yale's star halfback, is shown lugging the pigskin around end for a good gain against a fighting Crimson team which lost to their traditional rivals by the slim margin of a missed point after touchdown. Captain Larry Kelly and Clint Frank staged their forward pass play for the Eli's winning points, 14-13.

My Elsie captured race at Bowie in "Camera-Eye" finish with Ritorno.

Vic Hanson Quits As Syracuse Coach

(International News Service)

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Nov. 24.—Announcement of the resignation of Victor A. Hanson, Syracuse university football coach for the past seven years, was followed today by reports that Earl Martineau, all-American back at Minnesota in 1923, and assistant to Fritz Crisler at Princeton, might become Hanson's successor.

Although no official bid for his services has been reported, Martineau is said to be agreeable to a proposition submitted to him.

Hanson's resignation, which was unexpected despite the fact the Syracuse eleven lost seven of eight games this season, came after a two-hour conference with Vice-Chancellor Graham.

Hanson, who was an all-American end at Syracuse, said he had no plans for the future and resigned "Believing it to be for the best interest of Syracuse university."

21-Year-Old Grid Injury Is Revealed

(International News Service)

DOVER, O., Nov. 24.—A 21-year-old football injury was brought to light recently when X-ray pictures revealed that George Rippel, 37, a gas station operator, has been going about his tasks all this time with two fractured vertebrae in his back.

George, a tackle on the Dover High school team in the days when football was in its infancy here was injured in the game with Canton High school. Not having a coach or a trainer for the team, Rippel laughed off the injury, but frequently thereafter suffered from "rheumatism and lumbago."

A short time ago the pain became sever and he was forced to give up his heavy work at the gas station.

Consulting a doctor, Rippel was found to have two broken vertebrae and in addition the X-ray pictures disclosed he had suffered a fractured pelvis which had healed itself.

TALES IN TIDBITS

By BILL BRAUCHER
Central Press Sports Editor

One of the comelier girls in sports is 17-year-old Clara Callender, willowy California miss who slapped a golf ball around the Pebble Beach links the other day in 79....still a baby in years, Clara is a veteran in tournament experience, having been around on the courses for 10 years... tall, she gives the lie to the theory that golf is for such runts as Bobby Jones, Gene Sarazen and Bobby Cruickshanks...nice disposition, too ...after 10 years of battling bunkers (a reason why able-bodied men forget their prayers), Clara still can turn on a winsome smile.

Between the halves of the Army-Notre Dame game, Coach Elmer Layden asked his boys to try something else besides that "dirty look defense" they had been using in the first quarter when the Cadets marched 73 yards...In a recent blast against collegiate chicanery, John R. Tunis listed Kansas university as one of those maintaining professional football teams....K. U. has won one game all season, and when the Jaywalkers were drubbed 41 to 0 by Michigan State only 5,000 persons, including Boy Scouts and Campfire Girls, who had been lured to the scene by special invitation of the management...if that be professionalism, Mister Tunis certainly has made the most of it.

Earl's Awful Error

It finally has been discovered that Earl Svendsen, Minnesota's sinister center, is just a human being after all....during his sophomore and junior years Earl was not guilty of a single bad pass....his score sheet remained perfect this year until the Iowa game...with a sleet storm whipping the players, the mercury going down and around, and the score 36 to 0 in favor of the Gophers, Earl Svendsen finally made a pass that escaped the numb fingers of the intended receiver.... sorrowing for Svendsen, we hope his misfortune doesn't sour him for life.

The reason why the name of Harry Cooper hasn't appeared on a Ryder Cup team is a peculiar P. G. A. rule which stipulates that each player must be a native of the country he represents...Cooper was born in England...One of the major surprises of the grid year is Notre Dame...not because of the comeback the team made after that pogrom at Pittsburgh, but the presence on the roster of such names as O'Reilly, McCormack, McCarthy, Sweeney, O'Neill and Cronin...reassuring, however, is the fact that there still is a Wojcihovski on the e.even to uphold the old tradition of the "fighting Irish".

Badgers Too Tough!

Don Heap of Northwestern, one of the best ball carriers in the Big Ten, has been averaging a bit more than five yards per attempt this year... oddly this All-American candidate could gain only 30 yards in eight sallies against Wisconsin, though he piled up 54 yards in nine rushes against the Gophers...and, to heap insult upon injury, Heap is only a junior.

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—The first act in an intensely romantic drama of the race tracks is being enacted in Squadron A armory during Thanksgiving week. Approximately 250 sons and daughters of the royalty of the trotting turf are being sold at auction to the highest bidders during the forty-second annual Old Glory sale.

Here some lucky buyer may purchase another Dan Patch for a few hundred dollars. Here the winner of next year's Futurity and the rich Hambletonian stake for 1938 may sell for a pittance under the hammer wielded by the veteran George Bain. Here again, there is also a chance for a man to buy a $10,000 hay burner that never wins a heat.

For the yearlings, long limbed, wide-eyed colts and fillies from sweet pastures in Kentucky and Pennsylvania, this is the first serious venture into a world of dollars and cents, a world in which they are expected to win gold and glory. As they are paraded about an improvised tanbark track, keen-eyed horsemen eagerly watch their every step, examine each muscle and tendon, peer sharply at their eyes, their necks, their lines.

Average Price $800

How much does one of these babies of the turf cost? Well, prices are up a little this year. Nearly $200,000 is expected to be paid by horsemen to breeders in exchange for horseflesh. Prices will range from $100 to $10,000. Last year 256 head sold for an average of $548, the sum of $140,330 changing hands. This year's average price is expected to be around $800. This was a prosperous year on the Grand Circuit. The boys have some money.

The yearlings are from Walnut Hall farm, at Donerail, Ky., Almahurst Stud at Lexington, the Village farm at Langhorne, Pa., Hanover Shoe farms at Hanover, Pa., Peninsular farms, at Fremont, O., and other famous standardbred nurseries. In the auction ring, bidding against American buyers, are agents and horsemen from Germany, Holland, Australia, Belgium, Italy and France. Hundreds of horsemen from the east and midwest are on hand annually to shout their bids. This year there are a number from the Pacific coast, too, where interest in the harness turf is having a revival.

A few of the yearlings at Old Glory sale have gone through the first rigors of training. At Almahurst and the Village farm, colts are broken in early in life to trot or pace ahead of a training cart which closely resembles the racing sulky which the horse will have to pull in actual competition. Early training helps to boost the average price obtained by these farms, since it saves the purchasers some preliminary labor.

Daughter Of Peter Volo

To look at some samples: The Dutchess, described by Auctioneer Bain as "one of the prime aristocrats of the trotting turf." This filly was sired by the great Peter Volo, out of Margaret Arion, and therefore is a sister to The Marchioness, winner of the 1932 Hambletonian. The Dutchess' big sister was purchased by Premier Mussolini for many lire. The young lady with all that family tree is from Walnut Hall.

Here's one: Quonie, star yearling from the Village farm. She is by Abbedale, out of Broncho Queen. Abbedale is a famous sire, and Quoine need not be ashamed to hold up her head in company even as snooty as The Dutchess.

Just one more: Celia Hanover, from Hanover Shoe farms. "Just look at that profile!" says Auctioneer Bain. "Just like a matinee idol!" Celia is by Sandy Flash, out of Little Mary.

All right, gentlemen, step right up! "What's the bid?

Saks Will Have Basketball Team

What promises to be one of the strongest basketball teams in the city is Saks, who have been practicing for the past two weeks at the Lincoln-Garfield gymnasium.

It was announced today that Domenick "Gabby" DeCaprio has been selected as coach. The roster includes: Nick Cagnetta, Yanks Alfera, Joe Fava, F. Augostine, Louis Santangelo, Eugene Fava, Frank Colello, Joe Cherby Hoxie DiFiore, Rich, Nino Russo, Frank Cozza, Ralph Russo, Jumbo Lombardo, Gabby DeCaprio. According to Sak Levin, the team will probably be entered in the Independent League and also the Y. M. C. A. circuit.

A quick and easy luncheon dish can be made by simply adding bread crumbs and cheese to canned tomatoes and baking the mixture, says Barbara Pepper, young film leading woman.

Advance Date Of Job Registration

Changes in the date of eligibility for registrants for employment were announced today by J. Vale Downie, director of district 14, Works Progress Administration. All persons who were registered as of November 1, 1936, are now eligible for employment on the WPA, Mr. Downie said, providing all the requirements for complete registration have been complied with.

Some adjustments in the number and type of persons employed on the WPA are expected to be made within the next ten days, it was intimated.

When serving iced tea, some restaurants give customers wee pitchers containing a simple sugar and water syrup to sweeten it. Sugar does not readily dissolve in the ice cold drink, but the syrup mixes with the tea and sweetens it. It's a good hint for the housewife.

GIRL SCOUTS

TROOP MASEGOSEGI

Troop nine held an interesting meeting last Wednesday evening at 7:15 o'clock. They opened with a favorite song and went to patrol corners. They made out papers for Girl Scout headquarters and then formed a circle. They planned a hike for the morning of November 27th. The girls will take bacon and eggs to cook for their breakfast. They will meet at the new bridge at 7:30 o'clock.

We later had interest groups which were very interesting and the time passed quickly. Last week Miss Eleanor La Fevere was visiting the troop from Cumberland, Maryland, and taught judging.

We sang a good night song and taps. We also had a short court of honor.

Scribe Martha Carlson.

TROOP NO. 2.

The Girl Scouts of Troop No. 2 met Tuesday evening in Highland school with the leader, Miss Ione Farver, in charge. A game was played called "doge ball" and then the girls went to patrol corners. New patrol leaders were chosen as follows Marian Hildebrand, Mary Louise Duff and Martha Lawrence.

The girls also chose new names for their patrols, Silver Fox, W. P. A., and the Half and Half. Eileen Matiste, Kathryn Davis, Peggy Landis and Pauline Lienart were chosen to go to the Red Cross on Friday morning, November 27, at 10 o'clock. The girls then divided into two groups, signalling under Isabel Douglas and judging under Ione Farver. Songs were sung and the meeting was closed with taps. A court of honor followed.

Scribe, Natalie Ehrlich.

"Distance lends enchantment"—except when you run out of "gas" on a lonely road.

BOY SCOUT Activities

CROTON TROOP NO. 6

Croton Troop No. 6 held its weekly meeting in the junior room of the Croton Avenue M. E. church Monday evening. The opening exercises were in charge of Scoutmaster Harold Booth. The scout oath was led by Bob Hartsuff. The patrols then went to their corners where dues were collected and first aid instruction was given by the assistant scoutmaster and patrol leaders. Nello Rubeis was appointed troop quartermaster . Games were played and the meeting closed with Taps.

Scribe, Crescenzo DeMatteis.

PRESSING TROUSERS IN WRINGER

Says a housewife: "When I wash men's work trousers and white wash pants I straighten them as if to press before putting them through the wringer rolls, so that they come out looking as if they were pressed. I then clamp a trouser hanger to the bottom and hang to dry. This takes but a few moments and saves many minutes in pressing."

GLAZE FROSTING

When you wish to make your seven-minute or boiled frosting look more company-ish (and quite professional) melt jelly and pour over the cooled frosting. It gives the cake a handsome glazed appearance.

Now we know why statues of great military leaders are made of stone. They are hard and cold.

Slippery street car rails were blamed for an accident about 1:15 this morning on East Washington street when a car driven by John Hensley crashed into a power line pole between Almira and Morton streets.

The pole was sheared off, a concrete sign pole was torn out and high tension wires were dropped to the street. Workmen of the Pennsylvania Power company answered a rush call and cut off the power and made temporary repairs.

The car was traveling east when the accident occurred. While the car was badly damaged, the occupants of the car were unhurt.

THE PARENT PROBLEM

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

EMOTIONAL TROUBLE

"Dear Doctor: My three-year-old daughter constantly wets the bed. One doctor suggested that I give her no liquid after 6 o'clock, and to limit her supper liquid to six ounces of fluid. I have done this faithfully but with no success. I always take her up about 10:30 every night, but she is inevitably wet in the morning. Quite often she awakens and cries for me to change her clothes. It is only recently that I have been able to keep her dry by day. . . . Incidentally I have a young daughter aged nine months. The doctor I consulted seemed to think my older girl had 'accidents' because she was jealous of the baby. But we are careful not to give the little one any more attention than the three-year-old. . . ."

My answer: In the first place, don't have so much concern about the bed-wetting of your little daughter. Thousands of fine adults slept in brine long past the age of three, and it probably didn't hurt them, except the shame and remorse which the parents imposed upon them. Provide a rubber sheet for her bed and assure her she need not worry if she has an accident. Never compare her with the baby, and see that the baby does not get so much attention. You and dad read and play more with the other child, and show her more affection. Jealousy easily may be a factor.

Set Alarm.

Set the clock and take the child up about 12 or 1 o'clock, or often enough to keep her dry all night. When she awakens dry, make a great ado about her success; when she awakens wet, ignore it.

I wish I might persuade pediatricians to quit advising mothers to reduce liquids for the child late in the day. Naturally, if the child has little water in her, little will escape. But the main problem is habit-control. The same doctor who advises reduction of liquids in diet, later advises the mother to encourage the child to drink a great deal of water. But you and I have seen children warned against drinking water "or you will wet the bed", grow so obsessed with this fear that for years afterwards they will choose to drink little or no water late in the day.

Mothers of older children who wet their beds: Please, please, be sensible. Quit abusing that child. He already has heartaches which he can scarcely bear. See the needless suffering to childhood. It is a matter that can be so easily dealt with when sympathy and intelligence are exercised.

Ice Skating For College Sport

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Nov. 24.—The intramural sports program of Westminster College will add ice skating and ice hockey, according to plans being made by the athletic department. Jack Hulme, intramural sports superviser, expects also to add water polo to the winter program.

Plans call for banking up the varsity tennis courts, flooding them, and keeping them in condition throughout the winter for skating and hockey. Additional changes in the sports program call for spring practice in football, not customary at the Titan institution. Coach Roark has issued a call for all football men to report for drill March 15, with outdoor practice scheduled as soon as weather permits.

The total brightness of the moon has been estimated as equal to a 100 candle-power lamp at a distance of 22 yards.
